WCH Quintet Takes First Tourney Tilt

The Lion cagers of Washington C. H. High School won their first game in the district Class AA tournament Wednesday night, defeating Utica, 52 to 44, in the Capital University gym at Columbus.

The victory sends the Washington quintet into the second round Saturday night against Worthington's Cardinals who edged Columbus West, 56-52, in Wednesday night's first game.

It was the Lions' 11th win in 19 games. For the Utica team, it was the end of the basketball trail. They entered the tournament with a 14-5 record.

The Lions got off to a good start and played a steady and consistent game for three periods, scoring 16 points in the first, second and fourth stanzas.

THE THIRD period almost proved to be their Waterloo. When they came back from the halftime intermission, their passing was loose and their marksmanship was off. When it finally ended, the Utica team had tallied 11 points and the Lions only 4. That closed the 32-28 gap at the end of the first half to 36-29 at the end of the third period.

Although the Utica boys continued to pile up the points in the fourth period, the Lions found the

Council Moves To Annex Land Bought by City

First Steps Taken On Tract Acquired For Cemetery Use

City Council, meeting in regular session Wednesday night, took preliminary steps toward annexation of a 9.41-acre tract adjoining Washington Cemetery which the city purchased a month ago for $10,000.

The property, bought from Bud and Mary Brownell, is to be used in the future expansion of the cemetery. It has one inhabited dwelling.

Council, unanimously and under suspension of rules, authorized annexation of the tract which lies in Union Township. The matter will now go to the Board of County Commissioners.

AT THE SAME time Council accepted the plat of nine lots and part of another in the Brownell-Gilmore Addn. and dedicated Eastview Rd., which runs north off Washington Ave. for a distance of 907 feet, just east of Carolyn Rd.

This represents real estate already in the city but never platted.

Councilman C. L. Musser, chairman of the Safety-Service Committee recommended installation of a four-way stop sign at the alley intersection in the rear of the Cherry Hotel— a "blind corner" long regarded as a traffic hazard.

Wilmington Tutor's Body Is Found

LOUISA, Ky. (AP)—The body of David Thompson, 35, was identified in New York City Wednesday as that of an art teacher missing from Wilmington, Ohio.

Relatives said Thompson died Feb. 19, a day after falling off a train in New York. He disappeared Feb. 15 from his residence in Wilmington, relatives said.

Thompson had been art supervisor in the Wilmington city schools. When he disappeared he left all of his possessions behind including his supply of insulin.

Officials in New York said three cars of a seven-car subway train passed over him. It was necessary to shut off power and jack up the train in order to remove the body from the tracks.

Grocery Holdup Nets Bandits $4

Two respectably dressed bandits walked off with $4 from the cash register at Wilson's Grocery, 818 Columbus Ave. Wednesday night, overlooking about $130 in a cigar box in the back room.

Mrs. Ethel Wilson, proprieter of the store, reported that a pair of youthful bandits entered her establishment about 11 p. m. ordered her at gunpoint to give up the money in the cash register, and left with about $4 in bills and change.

City police and members of the sheriff's department investigating the case brought three men to the store later that night, but Mrs. Wilson said none of them were the robbers. Investigation is being continued.

"I'm sure that the one who took the money has been in here before," Mrs. Wilson said. She added, however, that she believed it has been some time since he had been in the place, and that she knw nothing about him.

ONLY ENOUGH money for change was in the register when the robbery occurred. The additional $130, which was to have been taken to the bank earlier, was in the box in a back room.

He signed an emergency measure passed early this session by the Legislature at his request.

The three-member council, created four years ago to classify Ohio's major highways, closed up shop in mid-February. The Ohio Department of Highways took over its functions.

Israel, Arabs Cool on Rosy U. S. Report

U. N. Aides Confused By Conflicting Views From Various Capitals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negative reactions from Israeli and Arab capitals today gave a dimmer tint to the rosy bloom of a reported agreement in Washington for withdrawal of Israel's occupation forces in the Gaza and Aqaba areas.

An Israeli government official cautioned against over-optimism. He denied reports Israel had undertaken to withdraw her troops within 48 hours.

And in the United Nations, Asian, Arab and Soviet bloc countries notified the U. N. today they would press ahead with their demands for sanctions against Israel despite the continuation of private talks.

A scheduled morning debate on the Israeli-Egyptian dispute was cancelled, but at least five speakers—all in favor of sanctions—said they were prepared to take the floor at an afternoon session of the General Assembly.

THOSE LISTED to speak were Bulgaria, Jordan, Iraq, Indonesia and the Soviet Ukraine. All are known to favor sanctions unless Israeli troops are withdrawn at once from the two areas.

U. N. delegates were bewildered by conflicting statements from Washington and Jerusalem on a reported agreement under which Israeli forces would withdraw behind the 1949 armistice line.

Phone Workers Return to Jobs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Workers began returning to their jobs today following the end of a seven-month strike against the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. but it was expected to be at least four days before all strikers were back on the job.

The striking Communications Workers of America ratified a new 16-month contract with the company Wednesday.

In Portsmouth, 15 of some 165 union members had returned to work in the first hour.

"A handful" had returned to work in Circleville.

Elsewhere, the back-to-work movement was going a little faster.

The company has asked all strikers who wished to return to do so by Sunday.

The contract, signed Wednesday by officials of the Communications Workers of America (CWA) and the company, does not retain a union shop clause, an issue bitterly disputed in negotiations.

But it increases some wages as much as 17 cents an hour.

The agreement, which substitutes maintenance of membership for the union shop provision of the old contract, was ratified by a 207-186 vote of union membership. Locals at Portsmouth and Circleville voted against it.

Frank A. Lennberg, company director of personnel, said most of the 550 workers covered by the contract will get pay increases, but some will not. The company has about 700 employes.

* * *

THE CONTRACT also contains a provision that 19 union members, including several strike leaders and stewards, will not get their jobs back. An Ohio Consolidated spokesman said the company already has fired 11 men and intends to fire the other eight. All are accused of improper activities during the strike.

"The new contract gives us less than we enjoyed under the old contract," said Frank Thernes, district union representative, "but it is an honorable contract."

CWA's contracts with Ohio Consolidated had included a union shop clause for the past 14 years.

A union shop clause provides that all non-supervisory employes must join the union. The maintenance of membership provision substituted for it requires that employes now union members retain their membership but does not require new employes to join the union.

The company wanted a no strike clause while the union wanted freedom to strike during the contract's tenure. Under the new contract, which expires July 15, 1958, the union won't strike over any

Execution Killings Laid to 2 Ex-Cons

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Joseph L. Taborsky, who was freed in 1955 from a state prison death cell in another killing, and an ex-convict buddy were held today as the execution killers of six persons in petty cash holdups since Dec. 15.

In all the killings out one the victims were shot in the head. In two holdups, four victims were forced to kneel on the floor and shot in the heads. This is a method of execution used by the Chinese.

When Taborsky and his buddy, Arthur Culombe, 33, of Hartford, were picked up Saturday police recovered eight guns from them.

Bill To Abolish Some County School Districts Offered in Legislature

A bill to abolish county school districts in Ohio counties in which there is not more than one local school district was introduced in the state Legislature Wednesday afternoon by Rep. Virgil Perrill of Fayette County.

Entitled House Bill 513, the measure seeks to amend section 3311.05 of the revised code of Ohio to achieve the results sought.

Rep. Perrill said Thursday morning in a telephone conversation that his purpose in introducing the bill was to "enable counties with no more than one local school district to achieve economy in administration."

The Perrill bill would assign all the functions and authority of the county board to the local district board.

He pointed out that there is only one local school district—the Miami Trace district—in Fayette County and estimated that elimination of the county school district (including the county school) board and superintendent) would effect a saving of "approximately $17,000 a year."

(In Fayette County there are now three school districts, but only one "local" district. Under Ohio law, there are four types of school districts: county, local, exempted village and city. Here there are the Washington C. H. (city) district, the Fayette County (county) district and the Miami Trace (local) district. There is no exempted village district.)

* * *

PERRILL said the bill also is "designed to achieve more efficient operation of the schools through concentration of authority in a single administration".

Perrill said the bill he finally introduced is the third one drafted with the help of the Legislative Service Commission. The first bills

Those New Auto Tags Go On Sale Friday!

Those 1957 auto license tags with the white numerals and letters on the maroon background, will go on sale Friday morning at the Fayette County Auto Club office, 124 S. Main St., here and at the home of Mrs. Heber Flax in Jeffersonville.

The new tags may be put on vehicles March 1. Last day for displaying 1956 tags is March 31.

All told, 8,100 tags for passenger cars have been sent to the two issuing agencies in Fayette County with its total popualtion of around 24,000. Not all of these will go to residents of the county, but most of them will. However, a number of other Fayette Countians will get their licenses direct from the state Bureau of Motor Vehicles because they have requested special numbers.

* * *

THE AUTO CLUB here now has 7,100 tags stacked up awaiting the first day's rush. Besides, there are 1,325 tags for trucks, 1,060 for trailers, 850 for farm vehicles, 125 for motorcycles and 40 for house trailers.

This is a slight increase over the number issued here last year, Mrs. Fern Chaffin, the deputy registrar, said.

Licenses issued by the Auto Club here are in the KP, KQ, KR, KS, KT, KU, KV and KW series with numbers running from 51 to 999 in all but the KP and KQ series.

* * *

THE KP SERIES runs from 51 to 1,450 and the KQ series runs from 451 to 999.

Mrs. Flax, the only other deputy registrar in the county, has received 400 tags running from 51 KQ through 450 KQ. Mrs. Flax has no farm vehicle tags, but she said she can take applications for these and that the tags will be sent direct from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Pilot Spends 4 Foodless Days Stranded

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "Hungry" was Richard (Mickey) Dunbaden's principal reaction to being stranded four days and five nights in the remote northern Arizona flatlands after an airplane crash landing.

"I drank out of mud puddles but I didn't have anything to eat the entire four days," the 23-year-old student flier said after he was rescued Wednesday and flown here.

He is a Bonanza Airlines mechanic here and his troubles developed while he was on his first cross country solo flight, from Las Vegas to St. George, Utah, last Friday.

He said he got lost, was afraid he would run out of gas and therefore crash-landed his single-engine light plane near Tuweep, Ariz., just a spot on the map in the desolate country west of the Grand Canyon. He escaped serious injury, but his plane was badly damaged, Dunbaden related.

Wednesday morning a search plane spotted Dunbaden, perched on a ledge.

He said the eight-pound, 13-ounce boy began crying about an hour before his birth Tuesday.

Airdrops Aid Flood Victims In Northwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Food and blankets were dropped Wednesday to 100 marooned by a flood in the north central Washington town of Wilson Creek.

The remainder of the community's 275 residents found shelter in scattered outlying homes.

Three emergency drops to the men, women and children who took refuge in the town's high school and Presbyterian church were made from an Air Force helicopter sent from Spokane, 110 miles to the east.

The helicopter pilot reported the evacuees needed the blankets and food. He dropped enough food for supper and breakfast.

Several trucks were trying to find a high route into the area to carry more supplies.

Although the high school and church were high and dry, roads leading to the flooded town were cut. Some residents escaped before waters were too high by way of railroad tracks.

The town still lay under 7 to 15 feet of water which boiled into it Wednesday from normally tranquil Crab Creek, overflowing with the runoff from melting snow.

Most areas in the Washington-Oregon-Idaho flood zone reported an easing of the situation or at least no increase in the threat. Water was high in a number of spots and a continuing runoff could cause further damage.

Testimony All Confused about Raid Aimed at Actress Marilyn Monroe

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Conflicting versions of a raid that misfired were on the record as a state senate committee continued today its search for the sources of sensational stories appearing in scandal magazines.

Marilyn Monroe was the objective of the raid, in which investigators invaded the wrong apartment. But most of the testimony in Wednesday's opening session concerned this point: Did Frank Sinatra actually take part in the fiasco?

The issue never was resolved. Also left unanswered were these questions:

How did the raiding party happen to smash the wrong door at a small apartment house where Marilyn was helping a girl friend wash dishes?

Why did Joe DiMaggio, the famed homerun slugger, insist upon the raid two weeks after Miss Monroe had divorced him?

And was Sinatra merely a reluctant chauffeur for DiMaggio or an active participant in the raid?

Sinatra led Wednesday's parade of witnesses before the hearing, called originally to investigate the methods of some collection agencies.

The inquiry was expanded, however, after Confidential magazine printed the story of the raid. The committee wants to know if some private detectives have sold their investigation reports to the so-called scandal magazines.

Philip Irwin, a private investigator, followed Sinatra to the stand and labeled the crooner's testimony false. Sinatra had said that he only drove DiMaggio to the general area of the apartment house and waited in the car while the raiders practically scared an innocent tenant out of her mind.

Irwin, 26, said that Sinatra engaged the detective service in the first place and was the one who by turning on a light, spotlighted the comedy of errors.

Talking to a reporter on the conflict in testimony, Sinatra said: "Who are you going to believe? Me or a guy who makes his living kicking down bedroom doors?"

Irwin testified that DiMaggio wanted the agency "to try and catch Miss Monroe in adultery." He added that he had her under surveillance for weeks but came up with "nothing."

On the night of Nov. 5, 1954—two weeks after the actress had received her interlocutory decree of divorce from the slugger—Irwin spotted her big car in front of the girl friend's apartment house. Before long, he said, DiMaggio, Sinatra, three other men and Barney Ruditsky, Irwin's boss, assembled for the raid. Irwin said that it was at that time they discovered they had barged into the wrong apartment.

WISECRACKING CROONER Frank Sinatra headed a cast of witnesses that included several New York actresses such as Shirley Falls (left) in an all-star state Senate probe of scandal magazine information sources, bill collection methods and private detectives' activities. Sinatra insisted he knew nothing of value to the committee, but Los Angeles police say he, Ex-yankee baseball star Joe Dimaggio and a crew of private detectives staged a so-called "wrong door" raid aimed at collecting divorce evidence against Marilyn Monroe in 1954.

Execution Killings Laid to 2 Ex-Cons

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Joseph L. Taborsky, who was freed in 1955 from a state prison death cell in another killing, and an ex-convict buddy were held today as the execution killers of six persons in petty cash holdups since Dec. 15.

In all the killings out one the victims were shot in the head. In two holdups, four victims were forced to kneel on the floor and shot in the heads. This is a method of execution used by the Chinese.

When Taborsky and his buddy, Arthur Culombe, 33, of Hartford, were picked up Saturday police recovered eight guns from them.

Bill To Abolish Some County School Districts Offered in Legislature

A bill to abolish county school districts in Ohio counties in which there is not more than one local school district was introduced in the state Legislature Wednesday afternoon by Rep. Virgil Perrill of Fayette County.

Entitled House Bill 513, the measure seeks to amend section 3311.05 of the revised code of Ohio to achieve the results sought.

Rep. Perrill said Thursday morning in a telephone conversation that his purpose in introducing the bill was to "enable counties with no more than one local school district to achieve economy in administration."

The Perrill bill would assign all the functions and authority of the county board to the local district board.

He pointed out that there is only one local school district—the Miami Trace district—in Fayette County and estimated that elimination of the county school district (including the county school) board and superintendent) would effect a saving of "approximately $17,000 a year."

(In Fayette County there are now three school districts, but only one "local" district. Under Ohio law, there are four types of school districts: county, local, exempted village and city. Here there are the Washington C. H. (city) district, the Fayette County (county) district and the Miami Trace (local) district. There is no exempted village district.)

PERRILL said the bill also is "designed to achieve more efficient operation of the schools through concentration of authority in a single administration".

Perrill said the bill he finally introduced is the third one drafted with the help of the Legislative Service Commission. The first bills

2 Atomic Support Commands Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army will organize its first two atomic support commands March 1.

One command, designated "Air Transportable," will be formed at Ft. Bragg, N.C. A Medium Atomic Support Command will be organized at Ft. Hood, Tex.

The Army had previously announced its intention to organize at least six atomic commands in line with its new concept for troop unit operations on nuclear warfare battlefields.

The Army plans to cut the number of its regular divisions from 20 to 18 in order to speed the formation of atomic support.

Those New Auto Tags Go On Sale Friday!

Those 1957 auto license tags with the white numerals and letters on the maroon background, will go on sale Friday morning at the Fayette County Auto Club office, 124 S. Main St., here and at the home of Mrs. Heber Flax in Jeffersonville.

The new tags may be put on vehicles March 1. Last day for displaying 1956 tags is March 31.

All told, 8,100 tags for passenger cars have been sent to the two issuing agencies in Fayette County with its total popualtion of around 24,000. Not all of these will go to residents of the county, but most of them will. However, a number of other Fayette Countians will get their licenses direct from the state Bureau of Motor Vehicles because they have requested special numbers.

* * *

THE AUTO CLUB here now has 7,700 tags stacked up awaiting the first day's rush. Besides, there are 1,325 tags for trucks, 1,060 for trailers, 850 for farm vehicles, 125 for motorcycles and 40 for house trailers.

This is a slight increase over the number issued here last year, Mrs. Fern Chaffin, the deputy registrar, said.

Licenses issued by the Auto Club here are in the KP, KQ, KR, KS, KT, KU, KV and KW series with numbers running from 51 to 999 in all but the KP and KQ series.

* * *

THE KP SERIES runs from 51 to 1,450 and the KQ series runs from 451 to 999.

Mrs. Flax, the only other deputy registrar in the county, has received 400 tags running from 51 KQ through 450 KQ. Mrs. Flax has no farm vehicle tags, but she said she can take applications for these and that the tags will be sent direct from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Pilot Spends 4 Foodless Days Stranded

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "Hungry" was Richard (Mickey) Dunbaden's principal reaction to being stranded four days and five nights in the remote northern Arizona flatlands after an airplane crash landing.

"I drank out of mud puddles but I didn't have anything to eat the entire four days," the 23-year-old student flier said after he was rescued Wednesday and flown here.

He is a Bonanza Airlines mechanic here and his troubles developed while he was on his first cross country solo flight, from Las Vegas to St. George, Utah, last Friday.

He said he got lost, was afraid he would run out of gas and therefore crash-landed his single-engine light plane near Tuweep, Ariz., just a spot on the map in the desolate country west of the Grand Canyon. He escaped serious injury, but his plane was badly damaged, Dunbaden related.

Wednesday morning a search plane spotted Dunbaden, perched on a ledge.

This Baby Cried Before His Birth

GEORGETOWN, Ky. (AP)—There wasn't much anyone could do for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mulberry's baby when he began crying at a local hospital — he hadn't been born.

Dr. H. G. Wells, the attending physician, said it was the first time he had heard a baby cry before birth although other cases are on record.

He said the eight-pound, 13-ounce boy began crying about an hour before his birth Tuesday.

Testimony All Confused about Raid Aimed at Actress Marilyn Monroe

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Conflicting versions of a raid that misfired were on the record as a state senate committee continued today its search for the sources of sensational stories appearing in scandal magazines.

Marilyn Monroe was the objective of the raid, in which investigators invaded the wrong apartment. But most of the testimony in Wednesday's opening session concerned this point: Did Frank Sinatra actually take part in the fiasco?

The issue never was resolved. Also left unanswered were these questions:

How did the raiding party happen to smash the wrong door at a small apartment house where Marilyn was helping a girl friend wash dishes?

Why did Joe DiMaggio, the famed homerun slugger, insist upon the raid two weeks after Miss Monroe had divorced him?

And was Sinatra merely a reluctant chauffeur for DiMaggio or an active participant in the raid?

Sinatra led Wednesday's parade of witnesses before the hearing, called originally to investigate the methods of some collection agencies.

The inquiry was expanded, however, after Confidential magazine printed the story of the raid. The committee wants to know if some private detectives have sold their investigation reports to the so-called scandal magazines.

Philip Irwin, a private investigator, followed Sinatra to the stand and labeled the crooner's testimony false. Sinatra had said that he only drove DiMaggio to the general area of the apartment house and waited in the car while the raiders practically scared an innocent tenant out of her mind.

Irwin, 26, said that Sinatra engaged the detective service in the first place and was the one who by turning on a light, spotlighted the comedy of errors.

Talking to a reporter on the conflict in testimony, Sinatra said: "Who are you going to believe? Me or a guy who makes his living kicking down bedroom doors?"

Irwin testified that DiMaggio wanted the agency "to try and catch Miss Monroe in adultery." He added that he had her under surveillance for weeks but came up with "nothing."

On the night of Nov. 5, 1954—two weeks after the actress had received her interlocutory decree of divorce from the slugger—Irwin spotted her big car in front of the girl friend's apartment house. Before long, he said, DiMaggio, Sinatra, three other men and Barney Ruditsky, Irwin's boss, assembled for the raid. Irwin said that it was at that time they discovered they had barged into the wrong apartment.

WISECRACKING CROONER Frank Sinatra headed a cast of witnesses that included several New York actresses such as Shirley Falls (left) in an all-star state Senate probe of scandal magazine information sources, bill collection methods and private detectives' activities. Sinatra insisted he knew nothing of value to the committee, but Los Angeles police say he, Ex-yankee baseball star Joe Dimaggio and a crew of private detectives staged a so-called "wrong door" raid aimed at collecting divorce evidence against Marilyn Monroe in 1954.

Airdrops Aid Flood Victims In Northwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Food and blankets were dropped Wednesday to 100 marooned by a flood in the north central Washington town of Wilson Creek.

Three emergency drops to the men, women and children who took refuge in the town's high school and Presbyterian church were made from an Air Force helicopter sent from Spokane, 110 miles to the east.

The helicopter pilot reported the evacuees needed the blankets and food. He dropped enough food for supper and breakfast.

Several trucks were trying to find a high route into the area to carry more supplies.

Although the high school and church were high and dry, roads leading to the flooded town were cut. Some residents escaped before waters were too high by way of railroad tracks.

The town still lay under 7 to 15 feet of water which boiled into it Wednesday from normally tranquil Crab Creek, overflowing with the runoff from melting snow.

Most areas in the Washington-Oregon-Idaho flood zone reported an easing of the situation or at least no increase in the threat. Water was high in a number of spots and a continuing runoff could cause further damage.

Sabina Industry Is Threatened by Utilities Fight

Industrialists Threaten To Move Plants Unless Sale Made to DP&L

SABINA — Close to 250 Sabina residents Wednesday heard leading local industrialists announce they will move their operations elsewhere unless the municipal power and water plants are sold to the Dayton Power & Light Co.

The representatives spoke at a meeting of a Citizen's Committee formed two weeks ago to back town council in its drive to sell the plants. Council is opposed by the Board of Public Affairs which wants to retain and expand the two systems.

Gail Waddell, president of the Mechanic's Tool and Forge Co., which, with the associated Clinton Tool Co., employes more than 100 people, said his company "would not hesitate a minute to plan to move if we thought the plants would not be sold."

His sentiments were echoes by Clem Poole, president of the Clinton Tool Co., by John Petty, whose McPherson-Huff Tool Co. plant employes close to 100 men, and by J. F. Kramer, proprietor of the 10-man Clinton Chrome Service.

* * *

PETTY TOLD the assembly that he had to turn down "a large bid" during the past year because limited power facilities made it impossible for him to expand. He said if he won another bid like that, he'd accept it and move.

The meeting marked the newest turn in a battle over power and water facilities that dates back more than two years. A move to sell the plants was defeated at the polls by three votes two years ago.

Clinton County Common Pleas Judge Charles Kirk ruled earlier this month that council and the Board of Public Affairs have equal authority in the matter of selling the plants, and that one cannot move without the other.

Ordinances to sell the systems were passed by council in January. The board blocked the sale just before bids were to be opened Feb. 8. DP&L officials report they have bid "in excess of $375,000" for the plants.

* * *

AT AN EARLIER meeting, Petty told a crowd of about 100 residents that Sabina would be in debt more than a million dollars if it retained the power and water plants and obeyed an order from the Ohio Water Pollution Board to build a sewage disposal plant.

He said that if the plants were sold, profit from the sale could cut the debt to under a half million.

Estimated cost of the proposed sewage plant is between $600,000 and $700,000.

The DP&L maintains it would charge Sabina residents the same rates charged in Washington C. H. and Wilmington. Officials of the company emphasize that the rate in both cities has remained the same for 25 years.

The three board members and the six members of council all come up for reelection in November.

Hope for Peace

Arabs made it plain it was not the reported concessions themselves that they objected to so much, as to the fact that there should be any concessions at all.

Concessions, they said, would be a reward for aggression, and could lead to more shooting war.

Officials in Lebanon and Iraq, more friendly to the West than some Arab leaders, declined comment until they learn more details of the Washington plan But there were doubts in these capitals that Egypt would agree to anything but unconditional Israeli withdrawal.

If Egypt took that stand it seemed likely that Lebanon and Iraq, for the sake of Arab unity, would uphold Cairo.

"The only question is whether the Israeli withdrawal is conditional or unconditional," was the refrain from Egyptian sources. "If it is conditional, it means Israeli aggression is being rewarded and this we cannot accept."

* * *

ALMOST ALL Arab sources agreed that a formula "rewarding" Israeli for her invasion of Egyptian territory last fall would produce a new crisis which could renew the shooting war between the age-old enemies.

The rosy report in Washington said that Israel is to start withdrawing her troops from the two disputed areas shortly.

An announcement was expected at the United Nations late today or Friday. A scheduled showdown session on the U. N. General Assembly was expected, to be postponed once again while withdrawal details were being worked out.

Officials Wednesday night indicated American, French and Israeli officials had come up with this agreement:

1. Israel would comply with two Feb. 2 U. N. resolutions ordering prompt Israeli withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm El Sheikh area which commands the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, with replacement by United Nations Emergency Force troops. Orders reportedly will go out shortly for the Israeli withdrawal.

2. The United States, France and possibly other nations would support an interpretation of these resolutions which would keep UNEF troops in the two areas until the Israeli-Egypt dispute grows quieter.

3. France and other nations would echo U. S. assurances of free Israeli passage through the Gulf of Aqaba.

Israeli officials were reported satisfied the formula would protect Israel against any Egyptian commando raids from Gaza and against any reimposition by Egypt of a Gulf of Aqaba blockade.

* * *

THE U.S.-FRENCH-Israeli formula apparently did not require specific U. N. action. But it would give U. N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold latitude in interpreting the Feb. 2 resolutions and the 1949 Palestine truce.

Hammarskjold has insisted UNEF troops could stay in Egypt only as long as Egypt permitted. Omar Loutfi, head of Egypt's permanent U. N. delegation, says that still is the situation. That would mean Egypt could move at any time back into the Gaza Strip—a situation the Israelis have said must never occur.

Also, Hammarskjold said there must be strict compliance with the truce designation of Egypt as administrator of the Gaza Strip.

Senate Racket Probe Hears Of Effort to 'Muscle In'

ASHINGTON (AP)—A third installment of James B. Elkins' story that others tried to "muscle in" on rackets in Portland, Ore., was slated to unfold today before a special Senate committee.

Elkins, a self-styled Portland gambler and racketeer, already has testified that outside racketeers supported by some Teamsters Union officials had tried to spread vice and crime in the city, had tried to oust the police chief and had succeeded in defeating the city's mayor.

Elkins himself came under attack outside the hearing Wednesday night in a statement which Clyde C. Crosby said he hopes to read to the committee. Crosby, international organizer for the Teamsters Union in Oregon, made his statement available to newsmen in advance.

He accused Elkins of trying to "make crooks and racketeers out of teamster officials" and at the same time establish himself (Elkins) as a baron of the rackets.

Elkins testified the Teamsters Union successfully opposed Mayor Fred L. Peterson in the last election because, he said, Peterson didn't cooperate in plans to expand the city's vice operations

He said he was told earlier that Crosby had been designated to see Peterson "and tell him to change the chief of police if he wouldn't play ball."

Crosby's statement said the union supported Terry Schrunk, who became the new mayor, because the teamsters hoped he would "end Mr. Elkins' stranglehold on the city."

The Senate committee intends to quiz officials of the Teamsters Union, including Dave Beck, its president, and Frank W Brewster, head of its western group.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said Brewster had been "invited" to hear Elkins' testimony but did not show up. He said Brewster now has been "ordered" to appear Monday, although he may not be questioned before the following day.

Elkins described himself as a front man for a combine of union officials and racketeers from Seattle, Wash., who, he said, were attempting to muscle in on Portland rackets in which he said he was entrenched.

School District Bill

drafted with the help of the commission's attorneys were revised, he said, to incorporate all the desired features in the third and final draft.

Perrill said he had consulted with members of both the senate and House education committees during the preparation of the measure and added that he had received encouragement from many members of the Legislature interested in education.

He said that the writing of the bill was approached from two angles: (1) To expand the powers of the county school board and superintendent or (2) abolish the county school district and expand the authority of the single local district. The second approach was taken, he said, because studies by him and the Legislative Service Commission showed the ultimate goal of economy and efficiency could be reached easier by that route.

A similar bill, Perrill said, is being drafted for introduction in the Senate. The original draft of this measure, he said he understood, would have expanded the powers of the county administration, but that it now is beng revised along the lines of his bill to expand the local district administration authority.

Deaf-Mute Youth Caught Fleeing State Institution

Sent To Diagnostic Center from Here for Several Car Thefts

A 14-year old Fayette County dead-mute was arrested in Mt. Sterling early Thursday after he had broken out of the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus and apparently stole a car.

The youth, who has a long record in Juvenile Court here, including several instances of auto stealing, was arrested in a Mt. Sterling alley about 3:30 a. m. by Mt. Sterling police.

He, apparently had broken out of the center about 9:30 p. m. Wednesday, stolen the car in Urbancrest and driven it to the spot where it was found abandoned on Route 62 about a quarter of a mile north of Mt. Sterling.

* * *

THE FRANKLIN County sheriff's office said the auto belonged to Miss Sally Salter, 2834 Olive St., Urbancrest. A 1950 Chevrolet, it was returned to Miss Salter.

The boy was returned to the Diagnostic Center. Mt. Sterling police said there was no evidence he had broken into anything in Mt. Sterling during his half hour there.

A porblem in Fayette County for several years now, the boy was committed to the Diagnostic Center in Columbus some months ago after another of a series of burglary escapades. He had previously spent time at the St. Regis School for the Deaf in Cincinnati and in the county jail here.

Juvenile Court Judge Robert Brubaker filed mandamus action against the state last year because it refused to care for the boy. Judge Brubaker maintained there was no facilities for his care here.

Grade Crossing Cost Shift Asked

COLUMBUS (AP)—A bill to shift the burden of costs for eliminating railroad grade crossings was drafted today for action in the Ohio Legislature.

The measure would raise the share of costs borne by railroads on most elimination projects to 65 per cent from 15 and lower the cost to governmental units to 35 per cent from 85.

The state also would be required to share in the cost under the proposal. Statute requires municipalities or counties to pay a share. Sponsors are two Republican and four Democratic representatives from Northern Ohio.

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—A Glendale concern has developed a rocket powered helicopter weighing only 170 pounds and using the pilot's legs as the landing gear.

The tiny craft has been flown 45 miles an hour at 1,000 feet by Dick Whitehead, test pilot for Toy-Craft corp. It incorporates a bucket seat between two fuel tanks, a vertical shaft assembly in back of the pilot, a single rotor blade overhead and a small stabilizing motor aft.

It has been designated as the RH-1 and nicknamed "Pinwheel."

Sabina Industry Is Threatened by Utilities Fight

SABINA — Close to 250 Sabina residents Wednesday heard leading local industrialists announce they will move their operations elsewhere unless the municipal power and water plants are sold to the Dayton Power & Light Co.

The representatives spoke at a meeting of a Citizen's Committee formed two weeks ago to back town council in its drive to sell the plants. Council is opposed by the Board of Public Affairs which wants to retain and expand the two systems.

Gail Waddell, president of the Mechanic's Tool and Forge Co., which, with the associated Clinton Tool Co., employes more than 100 people, said his company "would not hesitate a minute to plan to move if we thought the plants would not be sold."

His sentiments were echoes by Clem Poole, president of the Clinton Tool Co., by John Petty, whose McPherson-Huff Tool Co. plant employes close to 100 men, and by J. F. Kramer, proprietor of the 10-man Clinton Chrome Service.

* * *

PETTY TOLD the assembly that he had to turn down "a large bid" during the past year because limited power facilities made it impossible for him to expand. He said if he won another bid like that, he'd accept it and move.

The meeting marked the newest turn in a battle over power and water facilities that dates back more than two years. A move to sell the plants was defeated at the polls by three votes two years ago.

Clinton County Common Pleas Judge Charles Kirk ruled earlier this month that council and the Board of Public Affairs have equal authority in the matter of selling the plants, and that one cannot move without the other.

Ordinances to sell the systems were passed by council in January. The board blocked the sale just before bids were to be opened Feb. 8. DP&L officials report they have bid "in excess of $375,000" for the plants.

* * *

AT AN EARLIER meeting, Petty told a crowd of about 100 residents that Sabina would be in debt more than a million dollars if it retained the power and water plants and obeyed an order from the Ohio Water Pollution Board to build a sewage disposal plant.

He said that if the plants were sold, profit from the sale could cut the debt to under a half million.

Estimated cost of the proposed sewage plant is between $600,000 and $700,000.

The DP&L maintains it would charge Sabina residents the same rates charged in Washington C. H. and Wilmington. Officials of the company emphasize that the rate in both cities has remained the same for 25 years.

The three board members and the six members of council all come up for reelection in November.

Hope for Peace

Arabs made it plain it was not the reported concessions themselves that they objected to so much, as to the fact that there should be any concessions at all.

Concessions, they said, would be a reward for aggression, and could lead to more shooting war.

Officials in Lebanon and Iraq, more friendly to the West than some Arab leaders, declined comment until they learn more details of the Washington plan But there were doubts in these capitals that Egypt would agree to anything but unconditional Israeli withdrawal.

If Egypt took that stand it seemed likely that Lebanon and Iraq, for the sake of Arab unity, would uphold Cairo.

"The only question is whether the Israeli withdrawal is conditional or unconditional," was the refrain from Egyptian sources. "If it is conditional, it means Israeli aggression is being rewarded and this we cannot accept."

* * *

ALMOST ALL Arab sources agreed that a formula "rewarding" Israeli for her invasion of Egyptian territory last fall would produce a new crisis which could renew the shooting war between the age-old enemies.

The rosy report in Washington said that Israel is to start withdrawing her troops from the two disputed areas shortly.

An announcement was expected at the United Nations late today or Friday. A scheduled showdown session on the U. N. General Assembly was expected, to be postponed once again while withdrawal details were being worked out.

Officials Wednesday night indicated American, French and Israeli officials had come up with this agreement:

1. Israel would comply with two Feb. 2 U. N. resolutions ordering prompt Israeli withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm El Sheikh area which commands the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, with replacement by United Nations Emergency Force troops. Orders reportedly will go out shortly for the Israeli withdrawal.

2. The United States, France and possibly other nations would support an interpretation of these resolutions which would keep UNEF troops in the two areas until the Israeli-Egypt dispute grows quieter.

3. France and other nations would echo U. S. assurances of free Israeli passage through the Gulf of Aqaba.

Israeli officials were reported satisfied the formula would protect Israel against any Egyptian commando raids from Gaza and against any reimposition by Egypt of a Gulf of Aqaba blockade.

* * *

THE U.S.-FRENCH-Israeli formula apparently did not require specific U. N. action. But it would give U. N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold latitude in interpreting the Feb. 2 resolutions and the 1949 Palestine truce.

Hammarskjold has insisted UNEF troops could stay in Egypt only as long as Egypt permitted. Omar Loutfi, head of Egypt's permanent U. N. delegation, says that still is the situation. That would mean Egypt could move at any time back into the Gaza Strip—a situation the Israelis have said must never occur.

Also, Hammarskjold said there must be strict compliance with the truce designation of Egypt as administrator of the Gaza Strip.

ASHINGTON (AP)—A third installment of James B. Elkins' story that others tried to "muscle in" on rackets in Portland, Ore., was slated to unfold today before a special Senate committee.

Elkins, a self-styled Portland gambler and racketeer, already has testified that outside racketeers supported by some Teamsters Union officials had tried to spread vice and crime in the city, had tried to oust the police chief and had succeeded in defeating the city's mayor.

Elkins himself came under attack outside the hearing Wednesday night in a statement which Clyde C. Crosby said he hopes to read to the committee. Crosby, international organizer for the Teamsters Union in Oregon, made his statement available to newsmen in advance.

He accused Elkins of trying to "make crooks and racketeers out of teamster officials" and at the same time establish himself (Elkins) as a baron of the rackets.

Elkins testified the Teamsters Union successfully opposed Mayor Fred L. Peterson in the last election because, he said, Peterson didn't cooperate in plans to expand the city's vice operations.

He said he was told earlier that Crosby had been designated to see Peterson "and tell him to change the chief of police if he wouldn't play ball."

Crosby's statement said the union supported Terry Schrunk, who became the new mayor, because the teamsters hoped he would "end Mr. Elkins' stranglehold on the city."

The Senate committee intends to quiz officials of the Teamsters Union, including Dave Beck, its president, and Frank W Brewster, head of its western group.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said Brewster had been "invited" to hear Elkins' testimony but did not show up. He said Brewster now has been "ordered" to appear Monday, although he may not be questioned before the following day.

Elkins described himself as a front man for a combine of union officials and racketeers from Seattle, Wash., who, he said, were attempting to muscle in on Portland rackets in which he said he was entrenched.

School District Bill

drafted with the help of the commission's attorneys were revised, he said, to incorporate all the desired features in the third and final draft.

Perrill said he had consulted with members of both the senate and House education committees during the preparation of the measure and added that he had received encouragement from many members of the Legislature interested in education.

He said that the writing of the bill was approached from two angles: (1) To expand the powers of the county school board and superintendent or (2) abolish the county school district and expand the authority of the single local district. The second approach was taken, he said, because studies by him and the Legislative Service Commission showed the ultimate goal of economy and efficiency could be reached easier by that route.

A similar bill, Perrill said, is being drafted for introduction in the Senate. The original draft of this measure, he said he understood, would have expanded the powers of the county administration, but that it now is beng revised along the lines of his bill to expand the local district administration authority.

Deaf-Mute Youth Caught Fleeing State Institution

Sent To Diagnostic Center from Here for Several Car Thefts

A 14-year old Fayette County dead-mute was arrested in Mt. Sterling early Thursday after he had broken out of the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus and apparently stole a car.

The youth, who has a long record in Juvenile Court here, including several instances of auto stealing, was arrested in a Mt. Sterling alley about 3:30 a. m. by Mt. Sterling police.

He, apparently had broken out of the center about 9:30 p. m. Wednesday, stolen the car in Urbancrest and driven it to the spot where it was found abandoned on Route 62 about a quarter of a mile north of Mt. Sterling.

* * *

THE FRANKLIN County sheriff's office said the auto belonged to Miss Sally Salter, 2834 Olive St., Urbancrest. A 1950 Chevrolet, it was returned to Miss Salter.

The boy was returned to the Diagnostic Center. Mt. Sterling police said there was no evidence he had broken into anything in Mt. Sterling during his half hour there.

A porblem in Fayette County for several years now, the boy was committed to the Diagnostic Center in Columbus some months ago after another of a series of burglary escapades. He had previously spent time at the St. Regis School for the Deaf in Cincinnati and in the county jail here.

Juvenile Court Judge Robert Brubaker filed mandamus action against the state last year because it refused to care for the boy. Judge Brubaker maintained there was no facilities for his care here.

Grade Crossing Cost Shift Asked

COLUMBUS (AP)—A bill to shift the burden of costs for eliminating railroad grade crossings was drafted today for action in the Ohio Legislature.

The measure would raise the share of costs borne by railroads on most elimination projects to 65 per cent from 15 and lower the cost to governmental units to 35 per cent from 85.

The state also would be required to share in the cost under the proposal. Statute requires municipalities or counties to pay a share. Sponsors are two Republican and four Democratic representatives from Northern Ohio.

Tiny Helicopter Gets First Tests

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—A Glendale concern has developed a rocket powered helicopter weighing only 170 pounds and using the pilot's legs as the landing gear.

The tiny craft has been flown 45 miles an hour at 1,000 feet by Dick Whitehead, test pilot for To-Craft corp. It incorporates a bucket seat between two fuel tanks, a vertical shaft assembly in back of the pilot, a single rotor blade overhead and a small stabilizing motor aft.

It has been designated as the RH-1 and nicknamed "Pinwheel."

Each bunk on board of the U. S. aircraft carrier "Saratoga" is equipped with a foam rubber mattress.

Proposal To Make More Use of Highway Patrol

A great many Ohio people are expressing interest in the bill now before the Ohio Legislature which seeks to grant the State Highway Patrol full police powers in times of emergency.

Some Ohio newspapers have asserted that chief opposition to this proposal has come from the Ohio sheriffs' organization and from certain leaders of organized labor.

One in particular has pointed out that this opposition stems from the sheriffs' fear that such a move will affect their jobs and from labor leaders who think the Highway Patrol, if given additional powers, might be used as an "anti-strike weapon.

In recent years suburban land about many Ohio cities has been taken over by housing developments and heavy industry. The resulting dispersion of residential and industrial wealth beyond corporate limits has placed a severe strain on existing village and county police officials, and there are those who feel that the present laws enforcement agencies should, in time of crisis, be supplemented by the corps of highway patrolmen.

It is said that members of the Ohio Legislature are being pressed to investigate the issue thoroughly, to hold in abeyance at least temporarily the strong objections of those specially interested in the highway patrol measure.

There are now more than 30 other states —including all of Ohio's neighbors— which have extended policing power to their patrol agencies. Several lawmakers in Columbus want to know what the experience has been in these states in, say, instances where state police have been called in to quell labor riots. Have unions really suffered? Further, have sheriffs been overshadowed? Have personal liberties been in any way endangered by the arbitrary employment of state police squadrons?

These questions should be answered. Right now Ohio's governor has only one policing authority at his command — the Ohio National Guard—to use in protecting property rights against mob vandalism which, as in the Portsmouth telephone strike area, apparently has been too violent for local enforcement officials to handle.

What the General Assembly must decide is whether, at critical moments, the highly trained officers of the State Highway Patrol might safely be marshalled as an intermediary force to help keep the public peace and perhaps help stop destruction of property.

A Cold Teardrop: $2 Million

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—I stared at a $2 million pear-shaped icicle in my hand, feeling it burn a hole through my palm.

It looked like the fallen, frozen tear of a giantess, a tear that reflected the soft light from a thousand colored candles.

It also looked like a blob of vanilla jelly on fire.

And it gave me, this bright pebble of fortune in my hand, a weird, mixed-up feeling — kind of freezing hot and searing cold at the same time.

"You don't seem very impressed," murmured a disappointed voice that seemed to come from a polar distance. It was the voice of Harry Winston, the noted international dealer in rare ice, the kind of ice one shyly puts in a bank vault instead of a guest's glass.

"I'm impressed," I said, shaking my mind back into focus. "But for a moment I was afraid it was melting, and you might sue me."

Winston lovingly plucked the blue-white object from my open hand, and I realized it was I who had been melting. My palm was wet with the honest sweat of dishonest thoughts.

After all it isn't every day I hold a brand new $2 million diamond, destined to become one of the world's most famous gems, cupped in my grubby paw.

"I suppose this thing has been counted—you must keep pretty good track of it," I mumbled, and, for some reason, fell to thinking of Jesse James and Capt. Kidd.

"Not at all!" exclaimed Winston, a short, dark-eyed Napoleon of the hard carbon industry who has sold nearly $200 million in gems in a 40-year career of breaking pretty big rocks into prettier littler rocks.

Hypnotized, I looked again at the diamond teardrop.

Winston, who regards this diamond as his life's masterpiece, says it is unique, that no large diamond (although there are a number larger) in any collection "can equal it in quality and brilliance.

"No, not even the Regent diamond in the Louvre, nor the Cullinan diamond in the Tower of London," he said positively.

The new diamond, as yet unnamed, was cut from a 426-carat South African stone, one in a consignment of 50,000 diamonds that Winston bought in London a year ago for $8,400,000. It cost him $5 in postage to have the 50,000 diamonds flown here by routine airmail in a small cardboard box.

Winston and his staff made 300 lead replicas of the 426-carat stone and studied them three months figuring the best way to cut it.

"We sold them fairly easily," he said. "But I decided that, with the greatest stone in the world in my hands, I couldn't turn down the chance to make a diamond that would live in history."

It took 10 months—1,400 working hours haunted by the fear of a handslip that would mar a multi-million-dollar beauty — to cut and polish the big stone down to lustrous "Miss Nameless" and two smaller diamonds.

Double Standard and the U. N. Veto

By George Sokolsky

On the very day that President Eisenhower delivered his address on the morals of international conduct, Soviet Russia in the Security Council vetoes a proposal to send a U. N. commission to India and Pakistan concerning Kashmir.

It was a startling example of the double standard which prevails in the United Nations.

It will take a revision of the charter to eliminate the double standard, the supporting structure of which is the veto which five powers can exercise at their discretion and without limitation. The one concerning Kashmir was the 80th veto that Soviet Russia has exercised out of a total of 87 vetoes.

The effort ot establish moral stature by the United Nations depends upon its ability to police the great nations as well as the small. Picking on Israel is like a Municipal Court magistrate delivering a blow at a 14-year-old juvenile delinquent while gangsters, racketeers and politicians in the same town are in control of the courts, the mayor and the city council.

The magistrate's virtue does not sound convincing when it is known how he happened to be appointed.

The United Nations can only establish its moral stature when its officials can enter any member state to inspect it for a violation of the charter. As long as Soviet Russia can refuse to permit the United Nations to investigate the genocide in Hungary and the onesided imperialism of India in Kashmir, no moral stature is developed by going after Israel which is an infant in comparison with these giants. No matter which side is right in the Israel-Egypt controversy, the United Nations will develop no moral strength by knocking off Israel. It is too easy to do.

The double standard, to repeat, is inherent in the veto. The United Nations is precluded by its own charter, because of the veto, from effectively interfering with the great powers no matter what evils they may commit. President Eisenhower, in his speech, referred to the sacrifice of Great Britain and France in withdrawing from Egypt. They did not withdraw at the behest of the United Nations. They withdrew largely because the Eden government lacked the stomach to risk a war with Soviet Russia which is the protector of the Nasser government in Egypt. Had the British and the French not hesitated, Nasser would have been dumped. Someone else would have been in charge in Egypt, possibly Naguib, and the problem would have been solved as temporarily as most historic problems are solved.

Instead, hesitation magnified the Suez situation into a world problem for which the United States assumed all liabilities. This is the second time that the government of the United States found its policy in the United Nations, the first time being the Korean war which was euphoniously termed a United Nations police action, although most of the troops were American and practically all the costs were borne by the American taxpayer.

The United Nations possesses neither military nor financial strength but it is the member states which must enforce its resolutions. Thus far, that burden has fallen principally upon the United States. The question arises whether any nation would have assumed any responsibility in the Israel-Egypt situation if the United States had not.

The answer to that undoubtedly lies in the Hungarian genocide—not a single nation has undertaken to do anything against Soviet Russia because of the slaughter of the innocents in Hungary. If the United States does not enforce the resolutions of the United Nations no member state does.

There have, to date, been 87 vetoes in the United Nations. Soviet Russia has employed 80 of the 87, the other four veto-holding powers employed seven. The countries with the right to use the veto are Soviet Russia, Great Britain, the United States, France, and Nationalist China.

Soviet Russia's use of the veto has practically neutralized the effectiveness of the Security Council. The bullet voting of the Afro-Asian group is neutralizing the effectiveness of the General Assembly. Thus far, in the current sessions, the Western powers, the United States, Great Britain and France have had little influence in the General Assembly and the American delegation has acted in response to the challenges of the Afro-Asian group.

Tranquilizing Drug Will Ease Tension

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

More and more drugs are being developed to combat nervous tension. And two of the three drugs I want to discuss today in our monthly review of medicine deal with alleviating tension.

One of them, Compazine, is reported to have an extremely high tranquilizing activity and rapid response even in small doses. It was tested on more than 12,000 persons before it was introduced to the general public.

Many Conditions

This tranquilizer is reportedly successful in treating a wide variety of mental and emotional conditions including anxeity, agitated depression, tension, confusion, restlessness, senile agitation, even post-alcoholic states.

Small doses taken by mouth are said to be particularly effective in preventing nausea and vomiting during pregnancy.

Another drug developed originally as a treatment for premenstrual tension, has reportedly proven effective also in preventing acne and other skin ailments.

The drug, Pre-mens, is said to relieve premenstrual tension, depression, anxiety, backache and bloating.

Moreover, studies indicate that it also prevents premenstrual exacerbation of acne and other skin ailments suffered by so many women.

Amebiasis is a parasitic intestinal disease which frequently has been considered chiefly a disease of the tropics. But the high rate of the disease recently has led medical experts to agree that the illness can be found wherever suspected and sought.

Usually amebiasis involves the large intestine, the liver and possibly other organs.

Not only is Camoform effective in treating the disease, it also reportedly produces only slight, if any, side effects even on prolonged administration.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson doesn't talk too much. He talks little. But what he says sometimes makes people more upset than if they had just been buzzed by a comet.

But Wilson's frankness is like a fresh breeze in this town where high government officials pick their way through the English language like a night watchman making his rounds in an egg factory.

This week a few words by Wilson, apparently not well chosen, had the Army running after him with an eraser. This week he told a news conference the Army's Jupiter missile program "is canceled."

Wednesday the Army issued a statement saying no final decision had been made on Jupiter and Wilson later confirmed that the decision "will be made at a later date."

The day before, top Air Force officials tried to explain to senators a cutback in projected Air Force expansion. They said that at one time they thought the Russians were outproducing the United States in heavy jet bombers but now the estimates have been changed.

Wilson, asked about this at his news conference, said re-evaluation of intelligence is customarily made this time of year. This happens to be the time of year when Wilson's department tells Congress what it needs and why.

His statement made some eyebrows go up. Did he mean the Defense Department puts its intelligence reports in a suitcase until this time of year and then starts to think about them? He probably meant no such thing.

This was all minor league stuff compared with the fire he started earlier this year when he said the National Guard was a refuge for draft dodgers during the Korean war.

Eisenhower later called the remark "unwise". Mrs. Wilson promptly chided Eisenhower, saying the slap at her husband was "uncalled for."

Meanwhile, Wilson, who had been called to the White House, made this statement to reporters who asked him for a statement when he came out: "This is not my dunghill. Anything to be announced, somebody else ought to announce."

Wilson may regret — because it's been thrown at him so often —that he once said back in 1953 when he was telling senators why he ought to be secretary:

"For years I thought what was good for the country was good for General Motors and vice versa."

But the statement which got him into the hottest water was made Oct. 11, 1954, in the final month of a congressional election campaign with reporters in Detroit, he said:

In campaign: Discussing unemployment with reporters in Detroit, he said:

"I've got a lot of sympathy for people where a sudden change catches them. But — I've always liked bird-dogs better than kennel-fed dogs myself. You know, one that will get out and hunt for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

Moreover, studies indicate that it also prevents premenstrual exacerbation of acne and other skin ailments suffered by so many women.

Amebiasis is a parasitic intestinal disease which frequently has been considered chiefly a disease of the tropics. But the high rate of the disease recently has led medical experts to agree that the illness can be found wherever suspected and sought.

Not only is Camoform effective in treating the disease, it also reportedly produces only slight, if any, side effects even on prolonged administration.

E. S.: Will the giving of penicillin prevent a measles rash from erupting?

Answer: There is no evidence penicillin will affect measles in any way except to prevent certain complications, such as pneumonia, from developing.

You're Telling Me

Spring, according to the man at the next desk, in some areas of the U. S. is not an actual season but a series of too many rainstorms separating summer from winter.

Speaking of spring, Zadok Dumkopf declares some writers of vernal verses should have their poetic license revoked.

A court once defined "mooching" as the act of driving a motor car at five or less miles per hour. Gosh, we always thought the word meant borrowing from a pal a sawbuck or so "until next Tuesday."

A Florida press agent's nightmare, writes Grandpappy Jenkins, is an eclipse of the sun which would be total only in that state.

Bet They Didn't Leave a Tip. . .

DENVER, Colo (AP)—Robert Rich will turn a deaf ear to future back seat scraps between passengers in his taxicab. He learned his lesson when he picked up two women. When the women started fighting, Rich attempted to intervene. They quickly forgot their own differences and attacked Rich. Shortly thereafter, the cabbie turned up at a hospital with teeth marks in his right ear.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson doesn't talk too much. He talks little. But what he says sometimes makes people more upset than if they had just been buzzed by a comet.

But Wilson's frankness is like a fresh breeze in this town where high government officials pick their way through the English language like a night watchman making his rounds in an egg factory.

This week a few words by Wilson, apparently not well chosen, had the Army running after him with an eraser. This week he told a news conference the Army's Jupiter missile program "is canceled."

Wednesday the Army issued a statement saying no final decision had been made on Jupiter and Wilson later confirmed that the decision "will be made at a later date."

The day before, top Air Force officials tried to explain to senators a cutback in projected Air Force expansion. They said that at one time they thought the Russians were outproducing the United States in heavy jet bombers but now the estimates have been changed.

Wilson, asked about this at his news conference, said re-evaluation of intelligence is customarily made this time of year. This happens to be the time of year when Wilson's department tells Congress what it needs and why.

His statement made some eyebrows go up. Did he mean the Defense Department puts its intelligence reports in a suitcase until this time of year and then starts to think about them? He probably meant no such thing.

This was all minor league stuff compared with the fire he started earlier this year when he said the National Guard was a refuge for draft dodgers during the Korean War.

Eisenhower later called the remark "unwise". Mrs. Wilson promptly chided Eisenhower, saying the slap at her husband was "uncalled for."

Meanwhile, Wilson, who had been called to the White House, made this statement to reporters who asked him for a statement when he came out: "This is not my dunghill. Anything to be announced, somebody else ought to announce."

Wilson may regret — because it's been thrown at him so often —that he once said back in 1953 when he was telling senators why he ought to be secretary:

"For years I thought what was good for the country was good for General Motors and vice versa."

But the statement which got him into the hottest water was made Oct. 11, 1954, in the final month of a congressional election ment with reporters in Detroit, he said:

In campaign: Discussing unemployment with reporters in Detroit, he said:

"I've got a lot of sympathy for people where a sudden change catches them. But — I've always liked bird-dogs better than kennel-fed dogs myself. You know, one that will get out and hunt for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

Double Standard and the U. N. Veto

By George Sokolsky

On the very day that President Eisenhower delivered his address on the morals of international conduct, Soviet Russia in the Security Council vetoes a proposal to send a U. N. commission to India and Pakistan concerning Kashmir.

It was a startling example of the double standard which prevails in the United Nations.

It will take a revision of the charter to eliminate the double standard, the supporting structure of which is the veto which five powers can exercise at their discretion and without limitation. The one concerning Kashmir was the 80th veto that Soviet Russia has exercised out of a total of 87 vetoes.

The effort ot establish moral stature by the United Nations depends upon its ability to police the great nations as well as the small. Picking on Israel is like a Municipal Court magistrate delivering a blow at a 14-year-old juvenile delinquent while gangsters, racketeers and politicians in the same town are in control of the courts, the mayor and the city council.

The magistrate's virtue does not sound convincing when it is known how he happened to be appointed.

The United Nations can only establish its moral stature when its officials can enter any member state to inspect it for a violation of the charter. As long as Soviet Russia can refuse to permit the United Nations to investigate the genocide in Hungary and the onesided imperialism of India in Kashmir, no moral stature is developed by going after Israel which is an infant in comparison with these giants. No matter which side is right in the Israel-Egypt controversy, the United Nations will develop no moral strength by knocking off Israel. It is too easy to do.

The double standard, to repeat, is inherent in the veto. The United Nations is precluded by its own charter, because of the veto, from effectively interfering with the great powers no matter what evils they may commit. President Eisenhower, in his speech, referred to the sacrifice of Great Britain and France in withdrawing from Egypt. They did not withdraw at the behest of the United Nations. They withdrew largely because the Eden government lacked the stomach to risk a war with Soviet Russia which is the protector of the Nasser government in Egypt. Had the British and the French not hesitated, Nasser would have been dumped. Someone else would have been in charge in Egypt, possibly Naguib, and the problem would have been solved as temporarily as most historic problems are solved.

Instead, hesitation magnified the Suez situation into a world problem for which the United States assumed all liabilities. This is the second time that the government of the United States found its policy in the United Nations, the first time being the Korean war which was euphoninously termed a United Nations police action, although most of the troops were American and practically all the costs were borne by the American taxpayer.

The United Nations possesses neither military nor financial strength but it is the member states which must enforce its resolutions. Thus far, that burden has fallen principally upon the United States. The question arises whether any nation would have assumed any responsibility in the Israel-Egypt situation if the United States had not.

The answer to that undoubtedly lies in the Hungarian genocide-not a single nation has undertaken to do anything against Soviet Russia because of the slaughter of the innocents in Hungary. If the United States does not enforce the resolutions of the United Nations no member state does.

There have, to date, been 87 vetoes in the United Nations. Soviet Russia has employed 80 of the 87, the other four veto-holding powers employed seven. The countries with the right to use the veto are Soviet Russia, Great Britain, the United States, France, and Nationalist China.

Soviet Russia's use of the veto has practically neutralized the effectiveness of the Security Council. The bullet voting of the Afro-Asian group is neutralizing the effectiveness of the General Assembly. Thus far, in the current sessions, the Western powers, the United States, Great Britain and France have had little influence in the General Assembly and the American delegation has acted in response to the challenges of the Afro-Asian group.

A LADY called the producer of a TV thriller series and said, "What a wonderful program you had last night! Please tell me how it turned out."

"What happened?" asked the producer sympathetically. "Did your set go out of kilter at the wrong moment?"

"Oh, no," said the lady. "The set's fine. I just fell asleep."

Pic-Fay Garden Club Members Meet With Mrs. L. M. Tarbill

The luncheon table was beautifully decorated in a patriotic theme of red, white and blue, and the fifteen members and one visitor, Mrs. Dean Tarbill, were seated at small tables also decorated in the same theme.

Mrs. L. M. Tarbill, president, called the meeting to order by reading a poem entitled "Expectancy," after which the usual reports were given. Roll call was answered by each naming a famous person whose birthday occurred in February. Mrs. Tarbill gave a report of the Presidents Council meeting of the Fayette County Garden Club and the Spring Flower Show will be held in the Fayette Grange Hall, the date to be announced later. The theme chosen for the show is "Video Interpretation" with eleven classes and the niche "Promise of Spring." Pic-Fay Club will have charge of the tea table.

Mrs. Wendell Kirk was presented as the program leader and she gave a most interesting paper on "Historic Trees of Ohio." She brought out the fact that trees or timber were very important to the early settlers of Fayette County. Black walnut was used for furniture, etc.; honey locust for posts; tea was made from the sassafras roots which was supposed to thin the blood in the spring; the fruit from the persimmon trees were used for food; jellies and jams were made from the fruit of wild crabapples and plums. The sap from sugar maples was boiled down to make sugar and syrup and this industry is very important yet today, especially in the State of Ohio. Red cedar, sycamore and rathbone elm were among the early trees, also the buckeye. One of the oldest and largest elm trees is located in Marietta and has a circumference of fifty feet, and a diameter of fifteen feet at the ground level. The fact was also mentioned that the largest apple tree in the nation is at Lima.

The committee appointed for church arrangements for March is composed of Mrs. Herbert Louis, Mrs. Merton Tootle and for the month of April it will be Mrs. T. H. Gooley and Mrs. George Hott.

Following adjournment Dr. L. M. Tarbill showed several very interesting films taken on their travels, and members expressed their appreciation in being able to see these films.

Pic-Fay Garden Club Members Meet With Mrs. L. M. Tarbill

The luncheon table was beautifully decorated in a patriotic theme of red, white and blue, and the fifteen members and one visitor, Mrs. Dean Tarbill, were seated at small tables also decorated in the same theme.

Mrs. L. M. Tarbill, president, called the meeting to order by reading a poem entitled "Expectancy," after which the usual reports were given. Roll call was answered by each naming a famous person whose birthday occurred in February. Mrs. Tarbill gave a report of the Presidents Council meeting of the Fayette County Garden Club and the Spring Flower Show will be held in the Fayette Grange Hall, the date to be announced later. The theme chosen for the show is "Video Interpretation" with eleven classes and the niche "Promise of Spring." Pic-Fay Club will have charge of the tea table.

Mrs. Wendell Kirk was presented as the program leader and she gave a most interesting paper on "Historic Trees of Ohio." She brought out the fact that trees or timber were very important to the early settlers of Fayette County. Black walnut was used for furniture, etc.; honey locust for posts; tea was made from the sassafras roots which was supposed to thin the blood in the spring; the fruit from the persimmon trees were used for food; jellies and jams were made from the fruit of wild crabapples and plums. The sap from sugar maples was boiled down to make sugar and syrup and this industry is very important yet today, especially in the State of Ohio. Red cedar, sycamore and rathbone elm were among the early trees, also the buckeye. One of the oldest and largest elm trees is located in Marietta and has a circumference of fifty feet, and a diameter of fifteen feet at the ground level. The fact was also mentioned that the largest apple tree in the nation is at Lima.

The committee appointed for church arrangements for March is composed of Mrs. Herbert Louis, Mrs. Merton Tootle and for the month of April it will be Mrs. T. H. Gooley and Mrs. George Hott.

Following adjournment Dr. L. M. Tarbill showed several very interesting films taken on their travels, and members expressed their appreciation in being able to see these films.

178-School Day Year Is Proposed

COLUMBUS (AP)—A bill to require 178 days of instruction a year for school children was recommended for passage Wednesday night by the Ohio Education and Health Committee.

This is an increase, even though present law requires 180 days. The difference is that the present 180-day requirement makes allowances for legal holidays. The Senate proposal by Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Lorain) makes no such exemption.

O'Neill Is Handed Top 'Boner' Award

COLUMBUS (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill has a new shin bone and other politicians have a batch of hilarious and possibly uncomfortable memories today.

They are all part of the shenanigans of some 50 newsmen and their 500 guests at Wednesday night's Gridiron Show here, put on by the Press Club of Ohio.

O'Neill's shin bone, mounted on a plaque, was the Press Club's "boner award," awarded to the governor for unintentionally turning his back on President Eisenhower in the Washington inaugural parade last month.

Cost of State Government Going Up $6 Per Citizen

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The cost of state government is going up about $6 per citizen per year for the next two years.

For the two-year bookkeeping period which ends June 30, the average citizen's share of state government costs has been about $88. In the next two years, under Gov. C. William O'Neill's budget, it will be about $100.

That does not include most of the cost of the gigantic highway program now under way. Taxpayers will finance that, too, but through federal taxes—for U. S. state taxes collected to retire Interstate highways—and special state taxes collected to retire Ohio's highway bonds.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders of the Legislature were unhappy over one "failing" of the budget O'Neill submitted Tuesday.

O'Neill, despite earlier unofficial indications to the contrary, failed to recommend any pay increases for state employes beyond the automatic pay boosts they will receive next summer under law.

All O'Neill did on the salary question was to recommend a study of the problem. That satisfied neither Republicans nor Democrats who are urging state employe pay raises to keep key workers from drifting away into higher-paid jobs in private industry.

But, Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem and House Speaker Roger Coud agreed:

"The Legislature will give a pay raise, weighted on the side of the low-salaried employes."

Said Senate Minority Leader Joseph W. Bartunek and House Minority Leader James J. McGettrick, both Cleveland Democrats, in a joint statement:

"It is the determination of the Democratic minority to provide ample funds to substantially increase the salaries of state employes and in order to do this we will seek to pare down the many excessive departmental budget recommendations of the governor."

O'Neill and his finance director, John Skipton, estimate the state's income in the next two years will be 45 million dollars higher than in the present biennium. They say this is conservative, that they are counting on only a 2½ per cent increase a year in the state's income.

Swelled by a whopping 561 million dollars in highway bond proceeds and federal highway aid, the O'Neill budge soared to a record $1,706,899,004, about 442 million above the total cost of state government in the present two-year budget period.

Only about 25 per cent of the increase, however, is in the actual operating funds. All but about 25½ million of that increase is required by present laws—68½ million more for school subsidies, nearly 7 million mor efor medical car of the aged and nearly 18¼ million more for state employes' salaries.

Only in recommending nearly 12 million more for state universities and nearly 14 million more for mental hygiene did O'Neill ask for more money than the law requires.

Instead of a single budget bill, the Legislature Tuesday received three. The bills would appropriate:

For general revenue operations, including the big highway program, $1,149,238.704.

For local assistance, including the school subsidy of 365 millions and for poor relief, $412,039,000.

For aid for the aged, to the blind and to dependent children, $145,621,900.

On top of those three bills, the legislature will be forced to shell out another 39 million to make up budget deficits for the current biennium in a half dozen funds.

Figuring conservatively, O'Neill said, the state should have at least 30 to 35 million surplus in the treasury at the end of the present fiscal biennium, June 30. His own figures indicate the figure may be closer to 55 million.

Some Caution Being Shown By Business

Production Cutbacks, Tight Money, Price Resistance Pondered

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Caution in business circles is showing up today in several ways.

There are some production cut backs, less bank borrowing, some inventory paring, price resistance to materials, delayed expansion programs, and a weak and listless stock market.

This comes under the heading of caution, not fright. And caution is usually the healthiest of signs. On former postwar occasions this has both staved off a runaway boom and made the recessions minor.

The caution of businessmen is mostly over the short term. Expectations for a roaring advance in the 60's are still high.

So far the cautious attitude hasn't shown up among consumers. Total retail trade is still at a record dollar high. In recent months, true, the total of individual savings has risen — much of it in the form of paying off old debts. Consumers haven't been buying as many new cars and home appliances as the manufacturers would like. Nor are they buying as many new homes as they once did.

In these cases price resistance could be a factor -- especially as the general cost of living is rising and people have a little less to spend on the high priced big items.

But in general consumer spending stays high.

In business the talk of caution is widespread, however. Some auto makers have cut back production. General Motors for example has pared Chevrolet output by 19.3 per cent from a year ago. Several makers of home appliances have cut back output to get in line with sales.

Total steel production continues near capacity, although in recent days a furnace here or there has been cooled. And at the moment shipments of steel are running a little higher than incoming orders.

The copper industry is debating a cutback in product as a cure for price softness for the metal. Previous cuts have been largely in the more costly phases of mining — eliminating overtime, for example. But now a cut in output by as much as 10 per cent is being discussed.

Some textile mills have gone from a six day to a five day week to bring supply in better balance with demand.

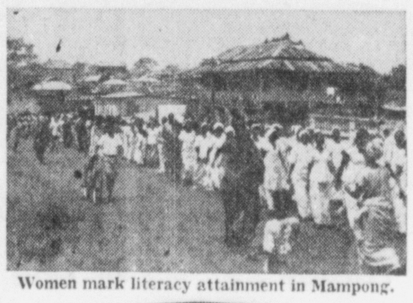

Caution, too, may be a factor in the less spectacular bank borrowing of the last two months. Bank loans to business seasonally drop after Christmas. Last year at this time the total bank loans were off by 400 million dollars. Now they are off by about one billion dollars. Businessmen seem to be borrowing less to carry inventories.

This trend should be reversed in the next two weeks, also seasonally. The March 15 day for payment of a large hunk of corporate income taxes may send corporate treasurers to the bank to tide them over.

Included in the new Ghana will be adjacent areas of Togoland, Ashanti and the Northern Territories, more than 92,000 square miles and four and one-half million people. What do they have? Manganese second only to the Soviet's, gold, aluminum, cacao, rubber, diamonds. Vice President Richard Nixon is scheduled to be in Accra, the capital, March 3-7 for independence ceremonies. U. S. Women Urged To Dress To Please Men, not Women

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

"Most women look good if they dress to please men, not to impress other women.'

This fashion philosophy in a nutshell, as expressed by a gangling young comedian from Vermont, name of Orson Bean. He has been assigned the frightening role of father confessor to 25 of America's most famous models in an hourlong TV style spectacular scheduled for the afternoon of Saturday, March 2. Orson, who hasn't paid much attention to feminine fashions up to now, admits it's a tough role.

"I like girls to look like girls, not like beanpoles," says this boyish New Englander. "Back in Vermont we like anything as long as it doesn't change. However, my grandpa just traded his 1925 Buick for a Cadillac, so I guess if he can get used to change, I can too."

Bean has been learning something of feminine foibles since his marriage six months ago to a petite French girl, Countess Jacqueline de Sibour, who also is an actress known professionally as Rain Winslow.

"I've always hated every change in women's fashions," says Orson wistfully. "I hated the New Look, the New New Look and the Old Look. But I guess you get used to anything after a brainwashing.

"Since my marriage my attitude has been more wistful than aggressive. I go along when my wife goes shopping, but I don't venture to criticize. When she says 'How do you like it?' I just say, 'That's fine, hone.' It saves wear and tear.

"Matter of fact, my wife is the kind of girl that looks good in anything. After observing the changes in her wardrobe in just six months I wouldn't be surprised at anything, even if women decided to stretch their necks like giraffes."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I spend all day cleaning and tidying up our apartment. Then my husband comes home from work and drops his clothes any place convenient. The bathroom looks as though a cyclone had struck, after he has been there five minutes—grease marks in the wash basin, damp towels draped on the tub, and he never replaces a bottle top.

When I ask him to please be a little neater, his constant retort is: "Why don't you get a job? You do nothing but sit around all day anyhow."

I did have a job for a while, but was laid off due to lack of work. I am inexperienced in the business world, and it is hard for me to find employment, as I have explained to him; but he says I am lying—that I don't look for a job in the first place.

I also tell him that housework, washing, ironing, etc., do take time, and that I believe a man should be able to provide for a wife, and not constantly tell her to "go look for a job."

Dick's untidiness and constant remarks about getting a job are driving me crazy.

P. P.

DEAR P. P.: It appears that you are leading a too-narrow life, and that your whole world is compressed within the four walls of home, in a fanatic housekeeping routine.

Perhaps it is true, as Dick growls, that you don't make a real effort to find employment on the outside. And maybe this is partly because you consider yourself worthless to an employer—lacking the skills required—and fear getting fired (as has happened already) if you do get a job.

Also you may shrink from job-hunting as an ordeal in itself—as indeed it is, to sensitive souls. Perhaps the dismay of being brushed off, right and left—when you've tried to scout a place for yourself—has (in the past) had a depressing effect on your frail self-esteem. Perhaps that's why you've sort of withdrawn into "home life," as a frightened puppy might crawl under a sofa to hide.

When badly discouraged by persistent defeats, neurotic character tend to take refuge in compulsive or ritualistic preoccupations — as if to prove that they are too busy to be bothered with the main stream of social activity where other persons navigate. Such is your present disposition I think—in keeping house as if your life depends upon maintaining perfectionist standards of neatness.

As for the meaning of Dick's rude disorder—it means he is rather resentful and rebellious about being your sole support. He doesn't relish the man's role in society; he'd like to be sheltered too. He makes it quite clear that he wishes you weren't so "useless" (financially) from his view; so snug in your little domestic shell, when he has to get out and battle for dough.

I think you should get a job. It would do you good. It would take you out of your shell; it would "throw the switch" of your interest, from ingrown housekeeping to outside contacts, thus automatically reducing emotional pressure.

And it should put you in a different relationship to Dick, making him more glad of your company, hence more congenial and cooperative at home.

If you aren't the stenographic or secretarial type, you might consider neighborhood baby sitting. Or halftime work as a mother's helper. Or a midday chore in a school cafeteria. Or parttime work as a waitress or sales clerk — to fill in on the "regular" staff's days off.

Some Caution Being Shown By Business

Production Cutbacks, Tight Money, Price Resistance Pondered

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Caution in business circles is showing up today in several ways.

There are some production cut backs, less bank borrowing, some inventory paring, price resistance to materials, delayed expansion programs, and a weak and listless stock market.

This comes under the heading of caution, not fright. And caution is usually the healthiest of signs. On former postwar occasions this has both staved off a runaway boom and made the recessions minor.

The caution of businessmen is mostly over the short term. Expectations for a roaring advance in the 60's are still high.

So far the cautious attitude hasn't shown up among consumers. Total retail trade is still at a record dollar high. In recent months, true, the total of individual savings has risen — much of it in the form of paying off old debts. Consumers haven't been buying as many new cars and home appliances as the manufacturers would like. Nor are they buying as many new homes as they once did.

In these cases price resistance could be a factor — especially as the general cost of living is rising and people have a little less to spend on the high priced big items.

But in general consumer spending stays high.

In business the talk of caution is widespread, however. Some auto makers have cut back production. General Motors for example has pared Chevrolet output by 19.3 per cent from a year ago. Several makers of home appliances have cut back output to get in line with sales.

Total steel production continues near capacity, although in recent days a furnace here or there has been cooled. And at the moment shipments of steel are running a little higher than incoming orders.

The copper industry is debating a cutback in product as a cure for price softness for the metal. Previous cuts have been largely in the more costly phases of mining — eliminating overtime, for example. But now a cut in output by as much as 10 per cent is being discussed.

Some textile mills have gone from a six day to a five day week to bring supply in better balance with demand.

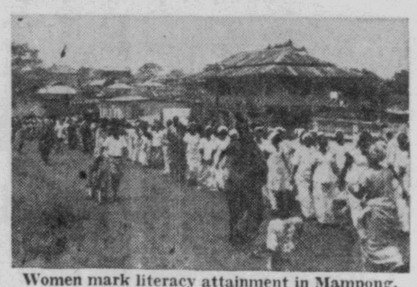

Caution, too, may be a factor in the less spectacular bank borrowing of the last two months. Bank loans to business seasonally drop after Christmas. Last year at this time the total bank loans were off by 400 million dollars. Now they are off by about one billion dollars. Businessmen seem to be borrowing less to carry inventories.

This trend should be reversed in the next two weeks, also seasonally. The March 15 day for payment of a large hunk of corporate income taxes may send corporate treasurers to the bank to tide them over.

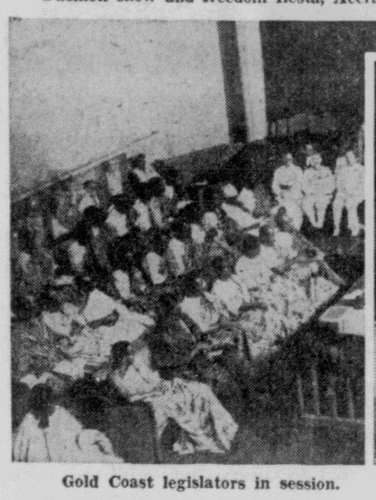

ANOTHER COLONY SHEDS ITS SHACKLES

Fashion show and freedom fiesta, Accra.

Women mark literacy attainment in Mampong.

Gold Coast legislators in session.

Electricity House, Accra. Also government office.

THESE PHOTOS from the Gold Coast, Britain's Africa colony which is achieving independence and being renamed Ghana, show a mixture of the primitive and the modern. Included in the new Ghana will be adjacent areas of Togoland, Ashanti and the Northern Territories, more than 92,000 square miles and four and one-half million people. What do they have? Manganese second only to the Soviet's, gold, aluminum, cacao, rubber, diamonds. Vice President Richard Nixon is scheduled to be in Accra, the capital, March 3-7 for independence ceremonies. Then he tours Africa. (International)

U. S. Women Urged To Dress To Please Men, not Women

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

"Most women look good if they dress to please men, not to impress other women.'

This fashion philosophy in a nutshell, as expressed by a gangling young comedian from Vermont, name of Orson Bean. He has been assigned the frightening role of father confessor to 25 of America's most famous models in an hourlong TV style spectacular scheduled for the afternoon of Saturday, March 2. Orson, who hasn't paid much attention to feminine fashions up to now, admits it's a tough role.

"I like girls to look like girls, not like beanpoles," says this boyish New Englander. "Back in Vermont we like anything as long as it doesn't change. However, my grandpa just traded his 1925 Buick for a Cadillac, so I guess if he can get used to change, I can too."

Bean has been learning something of feminine foibles since his marriage six months ago to a petite French girl, Countess Jacqueline de Sibour, who also is an actress known professionally as Rain Winslow.

"I've always hated every change in women's fashions," says Orson wistfully. "I hated the New Look, the New New Look and the Old Look. But I guess you get used to anything after a brainwashing.

"Since my marriage my attitude has been more wistful than aggressive. I go along when my wife goes shopping, but I don't venture to criticize. When she says 'How do you like it?' I just say, 'That's fine, hone.' It saves wear and tear.

"Matter of fact, my wife is the kind of girl that looks good in anything. After observing the changes in her wardrobe in just six months I wouldn't be surprised at anything, even if women decided to stretch their necks like giraffes."

Relocation of Utility Eyed As to State Responsibility

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If a new state highway forces the relocation of a gas pipeline, who should pay the bill—the utility company or the state?

Leaders of the Republican-controlled General Assembly listed that issue a week ago as one on which there will be "some action" this session.

A bill was introduced in the House Wednesday to require the state to pay for relocation of utility property if the federal government pays any part of the cost of the highway project. That would include almost every major highway the state will build in the gigantic construction program planned for the next few years.

Under the proposed law, the state would pay for the relocation of telegraph, telephone, electric, gas, water, sewer, pipeline and city mass transit facilities. The proposal came from Reps. Louis J. Schneider Jr. (R-Hamilton), Robert L. Johnson (R-Medina) and Ed Wallace (D-Pickaway).

Elected state officials and judges, who started to collect higher salaries only last month, would be in line for still higher pay under terms of another bill introduced Wednesday. They wouldn't be eligible to collect the proposed new salaries, however, until they start new four-year terms in January 1959.

Lawmakers introduced 63 more bills Wednesday as they raced to beat the introduction deadline next Tuesday. The total now stands at 797, still more than 500 below last session's record.

Among the bills introduced were measures to:

Repeal the axle-mile tax on big trucks and replace it with a gasoline tax of seven cents a gallon on trucks which haul freight and five cents a gallon on vehicles which carry passengers. It was offered by Rep. Clarence Wetzel (R-Columbiana). Wetzel said he did not know how much revenue his proposed tax change would yield.

Provide penalties against liquor permit holders for sales to minors shall be imposed only if the sales were made "wilfully and knowingly."

Set up a state rotary funds to help villages finance sewer and water improvements.

Increase permissible campaign spending of congressional candidates.

Extend the jurisdiction of the Municipal Court to Fairfield, Hanover, Morgan, Oxford, Reily, Ross and St. Clair townships in Butler County and the jurisdiction of the Middletown Municipal Court to Lemon, Liberty, Madison, Milford, Union and Wayne townships in the same county.

Make permanent the present nine per cent limit on school district indebtedness.

Give a free recount to a candidate who loses by fewer than one-half of one per cent of the votes cast for that office.

Prohibit lighted signs within 300 feet of either a highway intersection or a railroad grade crossing which has a lighted signal.

Create a nine - member state board of education to be appointed by the governor from Ohio's appellate court districts as they existed in 1955.

Abolish the cigarette fair trade law.

Give silos the same tax status that of processing plants—as pottery kilns and refinery storage tanks.

The House passed and sent to the Senate bills to prevent villages from taking the same name and to allow probate judges to fill temporary vacancies on common pleas courts.

New Material Gets First Showing Here

Curiosity of a buyer and the cooperation of a New York importer is bringing to Washington C. H. this week a first showing of the new fabric known as Bart's FIOCCO-in-the-straw".

Featured in the January issue of Glamour magazine, this Italian fabric is described as looking "for all the world like straw, sweetly crisp to the eye, gently curving to the figure, wonderfully soft to the touch". It is wrinkle-resistant, mothproof and hand washable.

William Lord, of Craig's Department Store, recently in New York, found that the entire import from Italy for the spring of 1957 was being used by the ready-to-wear manufacturers for suits, coats, skirts, jackets and sportswear, but the importer allowed him to select nine pieces from his warehouse "to see the reaction in a smaller city".

A large city in the Far West is testing "FIOCCO-in-the-straw" in the piece goods department, to get the approval of the "home-sewers" there. Craig's presents "FIOCCO" by the yard as a "first in Ohio" at least.

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Municipal Court Judge A. J. Chretien is trying out a new program involving habitual drunks -- a choice of a stiff fine or attending 10 meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Bill of Particulars Asked in Walls Case

A motion for a bill of particulars in the case of the state of Ohio vs. Beverly Clickner Walls, indicted for embezzlement of about $9,900 from the Washington C. H. High School activities fund has been filed by J. Harvey Crow of Urbana, her attorney, in Common Pleas Court here.

The motion asks for three specific particulars:" (1) The exact time and place said money was embezzled; (2) State if said money was embezzled at one time, if not the exact amounts and time of said various embezzlements took place between August 1, 1954 to November 30, 1956; (3) To state who were the owner or owners of the money in the sum of $9,874.17 at the time the alleged embezzlement took place."

The motion reads: "Now comes the defendant, Beverly Clickner Walls, by her attorney, J. Harvery Crow, and moves the court to require the prosecuting attorney to furnish the defendant a bill of particulars as provided by R. C. 2941.07."

Mrs. Walls was released on $1,000 bail by Judge John H. Houston of Brown County who held the preliminary hearing here Feb. 18. She did not enter a plea to the indictment at that time and Judge Houston granted her attorney's request that her arraignment be continued, pending the filing of a bill of particulars.

* * *

SHE APPEARED before Judge Houston, who happened to be here that day hearing another case, but so far as could be learned today, he has not been officially assigned by the state Supreme Court Justice Carl V. Weygandt to hear Mrs. Wall's case from here on out. However, he has been given a general assignment to hear cases that could include this one.

Judge John P. Case of the Fayette County Common Pleas Court said he had not yet formally disqualified himself from hearing the case, but indicated that he would. He will set the trial date after Mrs. Walls is arraigned and pleads to the indictment.

Mrs. Dorothy West, the clerk of courts, said the motion for the bill of particulars was on file here and that she mailed a copy of it to Judge Houston Wednesday afternoon.

Judge Houston said in a telephone conversation Thursday that he had not received it yet. It probably will reach him Friday.

Prosecutor Rollo Marchant, who has received a copy of the motion, said he would file the bill of particulars, but that for the present he was awaiting word from Judge Houston.

University Shuns Discrimination Ban

KENT (AP)—Discrimination clauses in the constitutions of three organizations at Kent State University will remain.

Three of the university's 25 fraternities and sororities have clauses which restrict the membership of minority groups. By a vote of 23 to 4 the Student Council defeated a motion that would require campus organizations to drop discriminatory clauses before January 1962.

The motion was proposed by James Lowery of Canton, vice president of the council, who said: "Everyone seems to agree that discrimination is not good, but no one seems to want to do anything about it."

HAS "STRAD" VIOLIN

Forty years ago James A. Blakeman, 432 Clyburn St., heard a friend play an old violin and he was deeply impressed with the rich, mellow tones of the instrument.

A short time ago he had an opportunity to buy the violin, and did so.

When he examined the violin he found printed inside the shell the words:

"Antonius Straduiarius Cremonefis. Faciebat Anno, 1716". Inside a double circle were the letters "TAS".

Usually when a violin is marked as having been made by the famous Cremona, Italy, master, the word "copy" is placed beneath it, but no such word (in English) appears inside the violin.

Over a period of years I have seen three violins with markings very similar to that in the Blakeman instrument. One of these, as I recall, was owned by a man named Williams, of Bloomingburg, some 50 years ago, and he was positive that he had a genuine "Strad" violin. Real "Strads" are valued up to $50,000.

However the instrument seems to have passed into the hands of someone else as a gift or for a few dollars, so it could not have been a real Stradivarius instrument.

Inasmuch as the "Cremona" violins were made during the 16th 17th and 18th centuries, and among the most famous were those made by the Amati family, Guarnerius or Stradivarius, Jim is not taking the inscription in his violin too seriously, knowing that there were others, of somewhat similar names, who sought to copy the old masters.

There is every reason to believe that his violin was made in Cremona, Italy, even though it is not a real Stradivarius.

Farewell to Wings; Tribute to a Duck

MCALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Bill Pace has been hunting many times but the last time he went out for ducks he came back shaking his head.

A solitary mallard flew near the shore and as he watched it was shot down by three hunters firing in unison. As the bird fell Pace heard the hunters play taps in unison on their duck calls

Uniform World Road Markings Is Now Goal of UN Commission

Uniform highway markers, as visualized by United Nations.

By JEROME DREYER

UNITED NATIONS, New York—It is the avowed aim of this international body to improve the lot of this troubled world—and in more ways than the average person realizes. For instance, the motorist.

For several years one of its agencies, the Transport and Communications commission of United Nations Economic and Social council has been developing a system of uniform highway markers that would be intelligible to automobile drivers in whatever country they may be touring.

The basis of this are road signs bearing easily distinguishable standard symbols which would eliminate much head-scratching and poring through foreign language dictionaries while traffic piles up behind a puzzled driver.

Americans, in ever-increasing numbers, now are driving in virtually every foreign country. Cars accompanying tourists abroad are being hoisted from the holds of ocean liners by the hundreds and U. S. license plates are seen parked in front of hotels from Afghanistan to Yugoslavia.

* * *

THE 40,000 CARS rented to tourists in Europe each year all indicate that neigher physical nor political boundaries are keeping our citizens at home. Visiting motorists in this country, too, are not uncommon.

Both groups, European who have driven in the United States and Americans who have motored in Europe, are agreed that the European system of symbolized signs is superior, and urge the simplication of signs, particularly in the adoption of the easily understood symbols.

* * *

RESEARCH on the art of the UN agency involved two years of exhaustive field tests and laboratory search by experts from five counties.

Their recommendations are based on scientific and practical studies carried out in North and South America, Europe, Asia and Africa. Here in the United States tests were conducted in Ohio, California, Minnesota, New York and Virginia.

Two principal systems are presently used—the "European" and "American" systems. The basic differences are in the use of symbols in Europe, while the American system relies chiefly on the use of inscriptions and in the shape and colors.

This group of experts tested both systems for visibility and legibility under actual driving conditions at 50 miles an hour, during all kinds of inclement weather.

Their findings indicated that symbols were definitely superior to word messages and that the "diamond" shape of the American design permitted the most efficient use of the plate area.

Estranged Wife Does Best To Fix Real Responsibility

TOLEDO (AP) — Lucille Rahla, claiming her husband beat her up, did her best here Wednesday to fix responsibility.

In municipal court to back an assault and battery charge against her 65-year-old husband Edward, she objected when Judge Homer A. Ramey granted a continuance to March 15.

So the judge told Rahla not to bother her in the meantime.

Mrs. Rahla objected again.

The judge then made Rahla's attorney promise that Rahla would behave.

"There," said the judge, "that makes both of them responsible."

Mrs. Rahla shrugged and left, but not before saying:

"You're responsible too, judge, because you married us eight years ago."

SEPARATION RUMORS ARE TRUE

Business Finds Competition Is Growing Sharp

'Free Enterprise' Praised until It Hurts Individually

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Competition is sharpening in most lines today. Which is just another way of saying that the howls of pain will become louder.

Small business says big business is smothering it. One set of retailers says another's tactics are unfair. One industry complains that another by trying to oversell the market keeps consumers too poor to buy other products. One group contends money is kept ruinously tight just to benefit the lending fraternity and to stifle the expansion and building hopes of borrowers.

In almost all cases the complainers want the government to limit the competition.

The amazing industrial growth of the United States is generally attributed to the union of free enterprise and competition — or what the Advertising Council Inc. calls "the people's capitalism."

But when it comes to individual cases, competition — given so much praise as a generality — can be a constant taskmaster and even a ruinous one.

"Every major innovation in industry and commerce has been resented and, when possible, resisted by those who were hurt by it," th March surgey of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York notes today.

"All competition is ruthless and cutthroat to those who are unable or unwilling to meet it."

Unfair competition is dealt with by a number of regulatory bodies. But the bank contends that in many cases "the charge of unfairness means only that the practice complained of is contrary to existing usage in the industry or trade —that it is an innovation."

If a new product or a new way of producing one cuts costs, improves quality, or in some way serves the needs of consumers, the bank holds it to be a step in economic progress—even though it means injury to those who can not or won't adapt to it.

The bank says: "If new practices had always been prohibited as unfair competition because they were contrary to existing usage, the world would still be in the stone age."

As for the product in which it deals — money and credit — the bank thinks the present competition among borrowers all to the good — and much preferable at the present time to competition among lenders. In other words it prefers tight to easy money just now.

Tight money, it holds "is a natural reflection of keen competition for a limited supply of goods and services." The bank finds the tight money policy "an essential means of preserving the balance between demand and supply when the competition becomes too keen."

Legislature Gets Bill To Tighten Ohio Divorce Law

COLUMBUS (AP)—A bill pending in the lower house of the Ohio Legislature calls for a rigid tightening of the state's divorce laws.

The bill introduced by Rep. Thomas L. Thomas (D-Summit) would remove such grounds as willful absence for a year and impotency, and leave only adultery and imprisonment in a federal or state institution under the death penalty at time of filing a divorce action, as the only valid grounds.

The proposal would go further with respect to holding strictly accountable the petitioner in proving his charges to substantiate his plea for a divorce. Thomas bill provides that if a petitioner fails to establish his proof of charges, he would be subject to a confinement of one to five years.

NEW YORK (AP) — That great friend of the nation's economy since the war—the rolling adjustment may be set for another comeback.

Some of the industries which looked pretty bad a while back are showing signs of new life. The farm machinery industry is one. Too, some of the high riders last year seem to be slowing down. Metal fabricators are an example.

In between are industries that many think are due for a change, although no clear signs are yet cited. Some, for example, think that textiles may have touched bottom. And some think that steel may back down from capacity production before the year is over. Which way the auto industry will go is still any one's guess.

This postwar pattern of some industries slowing down for a time while others spurted has kept the economy from ever looking all bad or from taking off on an overall runaway boom.

Some economists believe that this will be revived in 1957—with some softening spots offset by some newly improving ones. For one thing, they note that consumer buying patterns keep shifting from durables to soft goods, from services to gadgets, and back again.

One whole segment of the economy — farming — looks better than it did a year ago. Drought hurts large sections, but where farmers have had crops to sell they have been able to get better prices than they did at the low point of their post-Korea drop. The government has helped with various devices to move part of the surplus overseas and to pay farmers for not producing on part of their land.

The revival of better feeling on the farm has already put new life into the long depressed farm machinery industry.

Easing of the tight money situation which many now seem possible later this year could help another of the industries that has been rolling downhill — home building. Even if its revival is further delayed, builders say it can't be put off too long. The big war baby crop will be reaching marrying age and looking for housing. The adjustment which this industry has been undergoing in recent months will then be over.

The slackening in demand for steel by the auto and appliance makers so far is well balanced by the heavy demand for steel for office buildings, factories, and tankers. And big programs for highways and public buildings are around the corner.

This lucky and fairly peaceful coexistence of depressed and booming industries has done much to give the last 10 years its overall healthy glow.

Blacksmith Replacement Hard To Find

DETROIT (AP) -- A blacksmith who has never shod a horse in the 53 years he has practiced his craft is having trouble finding a replacement to fill his job at the Department of Public Works.

James M. Ferguson, 67, wants to retire. The DPW has searched two years and hasn't found a smith or an apprentice to take over.

"We realized a long time ago that Ferguson would be retiring and we would have hard time finding a blacksmith to fill his job," DPW Commissioner Glenn C. Richards said "We started looking two years ago but it appears blacksmiths are becoming scarce."

Ferguson repairs hand tools used for street maintenance and makes special tools and unobtainable parts for old machines. The DPW employs three blacksmiths.

Born in Scotland, Ferguson is only 5-feet-4 and weighs just 155 pounds.

"You don't have to be big to be a good blacksmith," he said. "What you need is strength and skill."

"Those you get through hard work. I guess that's why they are having trouble finding blacksmiths today."

Ferguson says, however, he would not recommend his trade to young men, "If I had to do it over again I would stay away from the anvil."

Civil Rights Bill Gets Initial OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Judiciary subcommittee approved Wednesday a civil rights bill containing President Eisenhower's principal proposals designed to protect voting and other right.

Acting quickly after winding up hearings which several times were prolonged at Southerners' insistence, the subcommittee went behind closed doors and drafted its bill in about two hours. The bill now goes to the full Judiciary Committee, expected to act next week.

NOT SO HOT, SCULPTOR SAYS OF THREE OF THESE

LOS ANGELES model Virginia De Lee has the most perfect body he has ever seen, says sculptor Joseph Dubronyi, and the famed forms of Anita Ekberg, Jayne Mansfield and Ava Gardner aren't really beautiful. "None of them come up to my idea of a beautiful body," quoth Dubronyi. He's in the business of doing nudes of them in bronze, but if this sort of talk keeps up, you wonder if business will. Incidentally, Virginia, 21, is 35-22-35. Said she, "If Mr. Dubronyi says I'm beautiful then it must be true. He has great artistic ability." (International)

Texan Uses Arrows To Kill Elephants, Winning $10,000

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — William Negley, San Antonio oilman, has killed two elephants with bow and arrows to win a $10,000 bet, he cabled his wife.

Mrs. Negley informed A. N. Gassman, archery dealer, that she had received a cable from her husband in the Congo saying:

"Killed two elephants according to wager."

Negley, 42, had bet William K. Carpenter, Wilmington, Del., $1,000 to $10,000 he could kill an elephant with archery equipment.

Negley left on his expedition Feb. 9 with a 5-foot, 4-inch "hard rock" 2-layered maple center bow. It has a 102-pound pull and shoots 33-inch arrows of compressed cedar impregnated with plastic and pointed with hand-sharpened steel heads.

Mt. Gilead Strike Lasts Single Day

MT. GILEAD (AP)—Machinists at the Hydraulic Press Manufacturing Co. here returned to work Wednesday after being out one day on what a company official termed a "wildcat strike."

Jean Arnold, vice president in charge of manufacturing, said the dispute apparently arose over a worker being laid off for one day for disciplinary reasons.

Ex-Lawyer Handed Sentence in Pen

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — Edwin L. Stanley, former Youngstown attorney, Wednesday was sentenced to 1-20 years in Ohio Penitentiary on six counts of forgery and 11 counts of embezzling.

He was convicted two weeks ago on the charges which grew out of the theft of $61,646 from the estate of Foster H. Hathaway, of which Stanley was co-executor.

U. S. Corporate Profits Total Down Slightly

Industry's Big Boys Dip, Causing Drop In Over-All Tally

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Profits slid in 1956 for some of the big boys in American industry. And although two out of three corporations made more money last year than in 1955 the total for industry as a whole was pulled down by these giants.

So today combined net profits after taxes are running slightly behind in the first reports.

The first 697 corporations to report so far show that taken together their net income is 1.1 per cent behind what the same companies made in 1956. With many more to come—especially some of the big oil companies that are expected to show sizable gains—it's still a horse race.

The declines that pulled the average down were in the auto, steel, electric equipment, and chemical industries, and in nation's railroads.

Auto sales were off. Steel companies came back fast in the final months of the year but couldn't overtake the effects of the summer steel strike. A strike held one big electrical equipment firm's profits down. Some rails were hit hard by the steel strikes. Some chemical firms — like many in other industries — complain that rising costs pared profit margins.

You have to go back to 1952 to find the year-by-year profit changes so close. In that year business managed to squeeze an increase of only one half of 1 per cent over 1951. The following year it climbed 11 per cent over 1952. There was a slackening in 1954 with profits topping 1953 by 3 per cent. In roaring 1955 corporate profits jumped 32 per cent. Last year, strikes and rising operating costs got in their licks.

The Commerce Department, which reports on earnings before taxes (a different measure) estimates that for all corporations' 1956 gross earnings should come to just under 43½ billion dollars. This would be a gain of 700 million over 1955, a gain of 1.6 per cent.

The department says that in the final three months the gross earnings were running at the highest rate of the year. They had started off good in the first three months, slipped in the next three, went down fairly sharply in the summer before recovering.

Of the 697 corporations in The Associated Press sampling, 221 declined from 1955, and 10 operated at a loss, compared with 13 the year before. Combined the 697 had net income of $10,663,833,352, compared with $10,785,867,891 for the same firms in 1955.

Coal made the most spectacular gains in 1956, largely because some concerns were deep in the red in 1955, and most showed nice profits in 1956.

By categories: The 447 industrials declined 3.3 per cent; the 130 rails declined by 4.4 per cent; and the 104 utilities increased by 9.4 per cent.

The biggest drops were auto makers by 35.8 per cent and the steels by 10.5 per cent.

Economic Aid Curb Sought By Sen. Russell

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga) claimed "substantial support" today for an amendment that would remove economic aid provisions from President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution.

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, took the lead in a move to limit the resolution to a statement the United States "is prepared" to use military forces if necessary to help Middle East nations resist open Communist aggression.

His amendment would strike out House-approved authority for Eisenhower to spend up to 200 million dollars for military and economic assistance in the area. It was called up in the Senate for debate just before recess late Tuesday.

Russell said military assistance could "start an arms race that could very easily lead to war in an area where there are already so many strong animosities."

Senate Democratic and Republican leaders regard the Russell proposal as possibly a crucial test for the Eisenhower resolution. It is cosponsored by Senators Byrd (D-Va) and Stennis (D-Miss).

Ohio Presbytery Votes against National Merger

EAST LIVERPOOL (AP)—A district presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church has voted against a national proposal to merge that denomination with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.

The vote was 19-6 against the merger, among delegates representing 17 churches in Columbiana and Jefferson counties.

The Rev. William Catlin of Salineville, moderator of the presbytery, said the district vote was contrary to a national trend which has been 60 per cent in favor.

About a month ago, the 60 churches of the Presbyterian church in the U.S.A. in the same two counties voted unanimously in favor of a merger

COLUMBUS (AP)—Decreases were noted by the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation today in both new and continuing claims.

The bureau said new claims filed for the week ended Feb. 23 totaled 9,580, compared with 10,423 the previous week. Continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more totaled 68,994 for the week ended Feb. 23, compared with 71,621 the previous week.

The average weekly new claims filed in February of 1956 was 11,195. Continuing claims filed in February of 1956 averaged 61,160 each week.

Ohio Adventists Elect President

MOUNT VERNON (AP) — Donald W. Hunter, 51, of Atlanta, Ga., has been elected president of the Ohio Conference of Seventh Day Adventists.

Hunter, who for the last three years was national service and youth leader of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference, succeeds M. E. Lewen president here the past seven years.

Hunter is a native of North Carolina.

The Jordan River, subject of arguments between the Arab and Israeli forces, is known as the "Down-Comer" in Hebrew. It is 700 feet below sea level at the Sea of Galilee, and finally empties into the Dead Sea 1,286 feet below the level of the Mediterranean.

Food Dyes, Additives Said Cause of Cancer in Humans

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cancer specialist says cancer inducing chemical additives and dyes are going into food for human consumption.

Dr. William E. Smith of Englewood, N.J., a cancer researcher, makes the statement in a letter placed in the Congressional Record today by Rep. Delaney (D-NY).

Delaney is the author of legislation proposing changes in the federal food and drug laws for tighter restrictions on the use of chemical food additives.

Smith has been a staff researcher at Harvard Medical School, Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research and the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer, and now holds a fellowship from the American Academy of Nutrition for cancer studies.

In his letter to Delaney, Smith says a loophole in existing law should be closed to insure that cancer-inciting substances — called carcinogens—shall "under no circumstances be introduced into food."

He said restrictions should extend to chemicals administered to animals destined for human consumption, and cited findings by the Food and Drug Administration in respect to the drug diethyistilbestrol.

He said this material is found in marketed poultry, and stated:

"My colleagues and I have assembled data to show that this drug is not destroyed by cooking and that marketed poultry have contained per bird up to 324,000 times the amount of this drug sufficing as a daily dose to induce cancer in mice."

Smith further asserted that "upward of half a million pounds of dyes" containing "dangerous carcinogens" have been certified for use in food while arguments have gone on over the safety of the material.

"As an example," he stated, "beta-naphthylamine, from which some presently-used food dyes are manufactured, is recognized as capable of causing cancer in man but not in rats or mice."

Baseball Clubs Face Long List Of Problems

Heart Attack Fells Top Giant Catcher; Holdouts Pondered

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball today faced a long list of problems a day before the opening of spring training — and chief among them was a catcher for the New York Giants.

Staggered by the sudden ending of Bill Sarni's active career because of a heart attack, the Giants were appraising a list of available receivers of major league calibre to bolster their weak backstopping corps. Cincinnati's hard - hitting Forrest (Smoky) Burgess was reported to be the No. 1 choice.

Other major league clubs, including the world champion New York Yankees, were faced with an annual problem — unsigned stars.

Sarni's four-year major league career was ended Wednesday when doctors said the 29-year-old catcher had suffered a heart attack in Monday's opening workout. Originally described as a muscle spasm, Sarni's attack was diagnosed as a moderate coronary attack after tests and X-ray pictures were taken in the last two days.

Giant President Horace Stoneham said that Sarni likely will be kept on as a coach to insure his getting a five-year pension. He is two-thirds of a year shy of qualifying.

Burgess — often traded verbally, but still a Redleg — was being sought by New York as a first-string catcher. The Giants now are down to two, the veteran West Westrum and Bob Schmidt, a rookie from Dallas of the Texas League. Most often mentioned as becoming a Redleg is pitcher Ruben Gomez.

The Yankees signed Tommy Byrne, the veteran lefthander and infielder Bill Skowron — but Don Larsen remained unsigned. Larsen is reportedly seeking $23,000, about a 50 per cent raise over his 1956 salary.

The Boston Red Sox had five headaches — outfielders Jim Piersall and Gene Stephens, infielders Ted Lepcio and Billy Klaus and catcher Sammy White. All still are unsigned.

Mickey McDermott, recently traded by the Yankees to Kansas City, was unsuccessful in his quest for a salary of around $18,000.

Philadelphia General Manager Roy Hamey said Richie Ashburn had agreed to a 1957 contract calling for an estimated $27,500.

Middlecoff Causes Tiff In PGA Ranks

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — National Open champion Cary Middlecoff was absent today as the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open got underway on a discordant note.

The fidgety ex - dentist from Memphis now playing out of Dallas, claimed he was "tired and underweight." His next start, he said at his Memphis home, would be in the St. Petersburg Open, the next stop on the winter tour week after next.

Tournament officials said Middlecoff had signed a commitment indicating he would enter the sixth annual 72-hole affair. A PGA committee will study the matter and question Middlecoff.

Four players already have been fined, tourney spokesmen said, under a new system for regulating tournament play. Two were fined for failing to play at Los Angeles, one for throwing a golf club and another for cussing.

Although the lanky Middlecoff hasn't fared too well in earlier stops on the winter tour, he would have been among the favorites. His accurate mid-iron game and steady putting is tailormade for the 6,450-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course.

A host of top golfers, including every winner in the eight previous events of the winter tournament trail, will be shooting at the favorities, Jay Hebert, Doug Ford and Arnold Palmer.

Big Ten Cage Showdown Tilt Due Saturday

CHICAGO (AP) — Offensive skill will be pitted against defensive strength when Indiana and Michigan State clash at East Lansing Saturday in the showdown game of the Big Ten basketball race.

Indiana is essentially an offensive team. Official conference statistics show Indiana is second in total offence with an average of 80.9 points a game. Illinois holds the lead with 85.7.

The Hoosiers have two individual scorers among the top ten in the league. Archie Dees heads the list with an average of 25.2 points a game. Dick Neal, who switches at the post and at forward with Dees, ranks seventh with 16.7 points. His average was built on a shooting average of .528.

On defense, Indiana ranks fifth.

Michigan State, by contrast, is the Big Ten's leading defensive team allowing only 67.1 points a game. The Spartans shoot less from the floor than Indiana.

Michigan State has no scorer in the top ten. However four Spartans have an average of 12 or more points a game.

Other games Saturday: Minnesota at Illinois, Ohio State at Northwestern, Wisconsin at Purdue and Michigan at Iowa.

With only a minute left in the game, the Lions were leading by only 4 points, 48-44, while their yelling supporters in the stands were getting nervous.

Then Dick English and Ron Knisley each looped in a long one to clinch the victory for WHS, 52 to 44, with a hair-raising finish.

THE LIONS were "off in their shooting all evening. They hit only 12 of 33 shots from the field in the first half and 7 out of 32 in the second.

At the free throw line, they did better, getting 14 of 21 while the Utica boys were cashing in on only 8 of 21.

Tom Swaim led the WHS attack with 8 field goals and 5 free throws for a 21-point total. He also was the team's leading rebounder. He got most of his buckets under the basket, but tossed in three from the outside for variety.

Larry Milstead, with 12 points and second high scorer, kept the Utica 3-2 zone defense off balance with his outside jump shots before he was taken out of the game with 4 personal fouls against him.

* * *

ALTHOUGH Ron Carter, a freshman, failed to connect from the field, he was a big help to the Lions under the baskets with his rebounding. He went in for Jim McWilliams, whose injured ankle was still ouchy and slowing him down.

Kelly Boyer was Utica's thorn in the side of the Lions. He was especially worrisome under the baskets.

After the game WHS Coach Herb Russell was happy over the Lion victory, but said they did not play up to their best because of tournament tension. He added that he thinks they "have a good chance" to beat Worthington (15-4) Saturday night.

Calhoun Collects Divided Decision

DENVER (AP) — Although the margin was close, middleweight Ron Calhoun protected his record of only a single setback in his professional ring career while pushing his victory string to 28.

He took four rounds to get rolling, then hacked out a split decision over Charley Cotton of Toledo in their 10-round televised match here Wednesday night.

Detroit's Bobby Layne led the National Football League scorers with 99 points in 1956. He had five touchdowns, 33 extra points and 12 field goals.

After West Virginia beats his team, 105-72, St. John's coach Joe Lapchick said the winner's had in Hot Hardley "the greatest college ball player I have ever seen."

5 More Ohio Colleges End Cage Seasons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five more teams finished their season schedule Wednesday night, indicating the approaching end of the 1956-1957 basketball season.

After this week, only a few scattered games remain to be played.

Wednesday night's games spelled the end of activity for Denison, Oberlin, Bowling Green, Bluffton and Ashland.

Denison whipped Oberlin 67-59 in an Ohio Conference game at Oberlin; Bluffton defeated Ashland 75-72 in a Mid-Ohio League game at Bluffton, and Bowling Green, playing at home, outdistanced Findlay 72-49.

Dayton, although it will still compete in the NIT tournament, closed its home season with a 90-47 victory over Toledo.

At Kent, host Kent State broke a long-standing jinx to defeat Akron 76-67.

Syracuse Tightens Pro Cage Loop Race

NEW YORK (AP)—The Syracuse Nats chalked up their sixth victory in their last seven games Wednesday night with a 108-93 victory over St. Louis to move up within a half-game of second place Philadelphia. At the same time they stretched their eastern division margin over the last place New York Knicks to 2½ games with the end of the season two weeks away.

In the other game of the doubleheader at Rochester, the Royals poured in 50 points in the last 18 minutes to down Fort Wayne 90-76 and move ahead of Minneapolis in their duel for one of the playoff spots in the western division. The Royals lead the last place Lakers by a half-game.

First Tourney Game Is Won by Lion Cubs; Next Game Monday

The WHS Lion Cubs won their first junior high school tournament game, 29 to 25, from Lancaster East at Chillicothe Wednesday night.

Now they will play the juniors from Western (a consolidated school southwest of Chillicothe) in their second game Monday at 6 p. m.

The tournament is being played in the W. Fifth St. junior high school in Chillicothe with 16 teams participating.

The Cubs piled up a 25-10 lead in the first three periods Wednesday night, but had to stave off a determined drive by the Lancaster juniors in the last period. The team they beat was the champion of the 4-school Lancaster junior league. The victory gave the Cubs a season's record of 12 and 4 to date.

Scoring for the Cubs were Tom Seaman 2, Gil Crouse 3, Mike Wilson 6, Aaron Foster 5, Kenny Baker 11 and Dave Reno 2.

Referee Rumors Quelled by Probe

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Missouri Valley Conference's committee on officials has investigated rumors linking a basketball referee to gamblers.

"We have found no truth to any of the rumors," declared the Rev Charles L. Sanderson of St. Louis University, conference chief.

The Des Moines Register reported last week Minneapolis gamblers were suspicious of basketball games worked by one Missouri Valley referee. The newspaper reported the gamblers suspected the official of using his whistle to control the point margin by which games were won, thereby setting up betting couples.

Bob Lemon, Cleveland pitching ace, hit 21 home runs in 1943 for Baltimore when the Orioles were in the International League. Lemon played 148 games that year as a third baseman and shortstop.

Single Field Goal Try Wins Ivy League Title for Yale

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Bab, a 6-4 senior, had one field goal try in Wednesday night's Ivy League basketball thriller between Yale and Dartmouth.

He dropped it in just as the final buzzer sounded, giving Yale the two points it needed to nip Dartmouth 57-56 and step into sole possession of first place in the Ivy Scramble with a 9-2 record. Dartmouth slipped to second at 8-3.

Other leading college lights had easier times. Seattle, sixth-ranked in the Associated Press weekly poll, trampled Portland for the second night in a row, this time by 95-81. Eighth-ranked Louisville nipped DePaul 97-76. Dayton, bound for the National Invitation Tournament, found Toledo no obstacle, winning 90-47. Another NIT selection, Xavier of Ohio, downed Western Kentucky 77-71.

Bab entered the Yale game with nine minutes remaining. He took an out-of-bounds pass from Larry Downs, wheeled and hit a 23-foot jump shot for the clincher.

In other Ivy League action, Chet Forte and his Columbia Lions smothered Cornell 80-62 and Harvard bumped Princeton 65-56. Forte garnered 33 points to raise his career total to 1,529 points. This raised his per-game average to 29.14 but left him still in fifth place among the nation's leading scorers.

In the Atlantic Coast Conference, Duke boosted its home court record to eight victories without a loss by whipping Virginia 81-66.

Baseball Clubs Face Long List Of Problems

Heart Attack Fells Top Giant Catcher; Holdouts Pondered

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball today faced a long list of problems a day before the opening of spring training — and chief among them was a catcher for the New York Giants.

Staggered by the sudden ending of Bill Sarni's active career because of a heart attack, the Giants were appraising a list of available receivers of major league calibre to bolster their weak backstopping corps. Cincinnati's hard - hitting Forrest (Smoky) Burgess was reported to be the No. 1 choice.

Other major league clubs, including the world champion New York Yankees, were faced with an annual problem — unsigned stars.

Sarni's four-year major league career was ended Wednesday when doctors said the 29-year-old catcher had suffered a heart attack in Monday's opening workout. Originally described as a muscle spasm, Sarni's attack was diagnosed as a moderate coronary attack after tests and X-ray pictures were taken in the last two days.

Giant President Horace Stoneham said that Sarni likely will be kept on as a coach to insure his getting a five-year pension. He is two-thirds of a year shy of qualifying.

Burgess — often traded verbally, but still a Redleg — was being sought by New York as a first-string catcher. The Giants now are down to two, the veteran West Westrum and Bob Schmidt, a rookie from Dallas of the Texas League. Most often mentioned as becoming a Redleg is pitcher Ruben Gomez.

The Yankees signed Tommy Byrne, the veteran lefthander and infielder Bill Skowron — but Don Larsen remained unsigned. Larsen is reportedly seeking $23,000, about a 50 per cent raise over his 1956 salary.

The Boston Red Sox had five headaches — outfielders Jim Piersall and Gene Stephens, infielders Ted Lepcio and Billy Klaus and catcher Sammy White. All still are unsigned.

Mickey McDermott, recently traded by the Yankees to Kansas City, was unsuccessful in his quest for a salary of around $18,000.

Philadelphia General Manager Roy Hamey said Richie Ashburn had agreed to a 1957 contract calling for an estimated $27,500.

Middlecoff Causes Tiff In PGA Ranks

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — National Open champion Cary Middlecoff was absent today as the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open got underway on a discordant note.

The fidgety ex - dentist from Memphis now playing out of Dallas, claimed he was "tired and underweight." His next start, he said at his Memphis home, would be in the St. Petersburg Open, the next stop on the winter tour week after next.

Tournament officials said Middlecoff had signed a commitment indicating he would enter the sixth annual 72-hole affair. A PGA committee will study the matter and question Middlecoff.

Four players already have been fined, tourney spokesmen said, under a new system for regulating tournament play. Two were fined for failing to play at Los Angeles, one for throwing a golf club and another for cussing.

Although the lanky Middlecoff hasn't fared too well in earlier stops on the winter tour, he would have been among the favorites. His accurate mid-iron game and steady putting is tailormade for the 6,450-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course.

A host of top golfers, including every winner in the eight previous events of the winter tournament trail, will be shooting at the favorities, Jay Hebert, Doug Ford and Arnold Palmer.

With only a minute left in the game, the Lions were leading by only 4 points, 48-44, while their yelling supporters in the stands were getting nervous.

Then Dick English and Ron Knisley each looped in a long one to clinch the victory for WHS, 52 to 44, with a hair-raising finish.

THE LIONS were "off in their shooting all evening. They hit only 12 of 33 shots from the field in the first half and 7 out of 32 in the second.

At the free throw line, they did better, getting 14 of 21 while the Utica boys were cashing in on only 8 of 21.

Tom Swaim led the WHS attack with 8 field goals and 5 free throws for a 21-point total. He also was the team's leading rebounder. He got most of his buckets under the basket, but tossed in three from the outside for variety.

Larry Milstead, with 12 points and second high scorer, kept the Utica 3-2 zone defense off balance with his outside jump shots before he was taken out of the game with 4 personal fouls against him.

* * *

ALTHOUGH Ron Carter, a freshman, failed to connect from the field, he was a big help to the Lions under the baskets with his rebounding. He went in for Jim McWilliams, whose injured ankle was still ouchy and slowing him down.

Kelly Boyer was Utica's thorn in the side of the Lions. He was especially worrisome under the baskets.

After the game WHS Coach Herb Russell was happy over the Lion victory, but said they did not play up to their best because of tournament tension. He added that he thinks they "have a good chance" to beat Worthington (15-4) Saturday night.

Calhoun Collects Divided Decision

DENVER (AP) — Although the margin was close, middleweight Ron Calhoun protected his record of only a single setback in his professional ring career while pushing his victory string to 28.

He took four rounds to get rolling, then hacked out a split decision over Charley Cotton of Toledo in their 10-round televised match here Wednesday night.

Detroit's Bobby Layne led the National Football League scorers with 99 points in 1956. He had five touchdowns, 33 extra points and 12 field goals.

After West Virginia beats his team, 105-72, St. John's coach Joe Lapchick said the winner's had in Hardley "the greatest college ball player I have ever seen."

5 More Ohio Colleges End Cage Seasons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five more teams finished their season schedule Wednesday night, indicating the approaching end of the 1956-1957 basketball season.

After this week, only a few scattered games remain to be played.

Wednesday night's games spelled the end of activity for Denison, Oberlin, Bowling Green, Bluffton and Ashland.

Denison whipped Oberlin 67-59 in an Ohio Conference game at Oberlin; Bluffton defeated Ashland 75-72 in a Mid-Ohio League game at Bluffton, and Bowling Green, playing at home, outdistanced Findlay 72-49.

Dayton, although it will still compete in the NIT tournament, closed its home season with a 90-47 victory over Toledo.

At Kent, host Kent State broke a long-standing jinx to defeat Akron 76-67.

Syracuse Tightens Pro Cage Loop Race

NEW YORK (AP)—The Syracuse Nats chalked up their sixth victory in their last seven games Wednesday night with a 108-93 victory over St. Louis to move up within a half-game of second place Philadelphia. At the same time they stretched their eastern division margin over the last place New York Knicks to 2½ games with the end of the season two weeks away.

In the other game of the doubleheader at Rochester, the Royals poured in 50 points in the last 18 minutes to down Fort Wayne 90-76 and move ahead of Minneapolis in their duel for one of the playoff spots in the western division. The Royals lead the last place Lakers by a half-game.

First Tourney Game Is Won by Lion Cubs; Next Game Monday

The WHS Lion Cubs won their first junior high school tournament game, 29, to 25, from Lancaster East at Chillicothe Wednesday night.

Now they will play the juniors from Western (a consolidated school southwest of Chillicothe) in their second game Monday at 6 p. m.

The tournament is being played in the W. Fifth St. junior high school in Chillicothe with 16 teams participating.

The Cubs piled up a 25-10 lead in the first three periods Wednesday night, but had to stave off a determined drive by the Lancaster juniors in the last period. The team they beat was the champion of the 4-school Lancaster junior league. The victory gave the Cubs a season's record of 12 and 4 to date.

Scoring for the Cubs were Tom Seaman 2, Gil Crouse 3, Mike Wilson 6, Aaron Foster 5, Kenny Baker 11 and Dave Reno 2.

Referee Rumors Quelled by Probe

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Missouri Valley Conference's committee on officials has investigated rumors linking a basketball referee to gamblers.

"We have found no truth to any of the rumors," declared the Rev Charles L. Sanderson of St. Louis University, conference chief.

The Des Moines Register reported last week Minneapolis gamblers were suspicious of basketball games worked by one Missouri Valley referee. The newspaper reported the gamblers suspected the official of using his whistle to control the point margin by which games were won, thereby setting up betting couples.

Bob Lemon, Cleveland pitching ace, hit 21 home runs in 1943 for Baltimore when the Orioles were in the International League. Lemon played 148 games that year as a third baseman and shortstop.

Single Field Goal Try Wins Ivy League Title for Yale

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Bab, a 6-4 senior, had one field goal try in Wednesday night's Ivy League basketball thriller between Yale and Dartmouth.

He dropped it in just as the final buzzer sounded, giving Yale the two points it needed to nip Dartmouth 57-56 and step into sole possession of first place in the Ivy Scramble with a 9-2 record. Dartmouth slipped to second at 8-3.

Other leading college lights had easier times. Seattle, sixth-ranked in the Associated Press weekly poll, trampled Portland for the second night in a row, this time by 95-81. Eighth-ranked Louisville nipped DePaul 97-76. Dayton, bound for the National Invitation Tournament, found Toledo no obstacle, winning 90-47. Another NIT selection, Xavier of Ohio, downed Western Kentucky 77-71.

Bab entered the Yale game with nine minutes remaining. He took an out-of-bounds pass from Larry Downs, wheeled and hit a 23-foot jump shot for the clincher.

In other Ivy League action, Chet Forte and his Columbia Lions smothered Cornell 80-62 and Harvard bumped Princeton 65-56. Forte garnered 33 points to raise his career total to 1,529 points. This raised his per-game average to 29.14 but left him still in fifth place among the nation's leading scorers.

In the Atlantic Coast Conference, Duke boosted its home court record to eight victories without a loss by whipping Virginia 81-66.

West Virginian Keeps Score Lead

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ken Hammond of West Virginia Tech scored 113 points in three games last week to retain a one - point lead in the race for the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics individual basketball scoring championship.

Hammond's average for 24 games stands at 36.6 compared to 35.6 for Porky Vieira of Quinnipiac College in Connecticut. Vieira, who has played in 17 games, scored 44 points in his only contest last week.

Man, 78, Gets Drop On Would-Be Thug

The holdup man pointed a gun at Carmen T. Cassese, then turned to order two customers to stand against the wall.

Cassese pulled a gun from a drawer by the cash register and said, "Now you stick 'em up."

The man fled with Cassese in pursuit. Outside, Cassese fired three shots at the fleeing man but he escaped.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Man, 78, Gets Drop On Would-Be Thug

The holdup man pointed a gun at Carmen T. Cassese, then turned to order two customers to stand against the wall.

Cassese pulled a gun from a drawer by the cash register and said, "Now you stick 'em up."

The man fled with Cassese in pursuit. Outside, Cassese fired three shots at the fleeing man but he escaped.

Burglars Forget $150 In $4 Job at Sabina

The money had been taken from the safe, from a cash drawer and from an office drawer, the sheriff said, but a plastic bank envelope with the funds in it was lying on a counter when the robbery was discovered Wednesday morning.

The robbery was one of three in Sabina early Wednesday. An attempt at burglary was made in Clarksville the same night, and successful burglaries were completed the same night in Bainbridge and West Union.

* * *

"I DON'T KNOW, but I'll bet someone got the devil for leaving that money behind," Sheriff Foote said Wednesday. "It looks like each one of them thought the other one had it," he continued.

Robbers had entered the rear of the Exchange office building, stripped a large double door safe and taken money from the unlocked cash drawer and office drawer. Small tools were taken, and an ax, a chisel and a hatchet from the establishment were used on the safe. Total cash haul was only about $4.

About $100 was taken from the Farm Bureau in Sabina, while five rifles, two shotguns and a .22 pistol were taken from Dun's Refrigeration Sales and Service there.

Officials from the London Bureau of Criminal Identification said a crowbar found at the Farmers Exchange was the same kind as one taken in a robbery at Ashland recently.

Milk Price Strike Fading In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A producers' milk price boycott over a tristate area appears to be losing momentum as a result of state police and court action and a lack of backing by big dairy farmer groups.

Developments Wednesday put a damper on the four-day-old stoppage of milk supplies called by the Tristate Master Dairy Farmers Guild, an organization of about 3,500 producers. The guild seeks the cooperation of the 44,500 producers in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The federal milk marketing administrator said 5,600 producers are taking part and 58 out of 381 milk plants have been affected.

State police in the three states put a check on violence with emergency patrols protecting milk plants and their truckers.

In Albany, the Dairy Farmers of America, which claims a membership of more than 3,000 farmers in New York, New Hampshire and Vermont, voted to stay out of the milk stoppage.

There was no noticeable shortage of milk Wednesday in New York City, which normally uses about 10 million quarts of milk daily. Convoys of up to 40 trucks sped into the city under state police escort.

The current government-regulated minimum farm price for milk is about 9.8 cents a quart. The strikers contend it costs dairy men 12.2 cents a quart to produce the milk. They are demanding 12.4 cents a quart.

Reds Can Get U. S. Military Data on Phone

All he has to do is telephone the Defense Department and ask for extension 79355. Back comes a recording of the latest weather report from nearby Bolling Air Force Base, giving a 24-hour forecast and such details as ceiling, visibility, wind and temperature.

"This information," says a voice at the conclusion of the automatic, 55-second recording, "is for military use only and dissemination to the public is not authorized."

Chairman Moss (D-Calif) of the House Government Information subcommittee today made public a letter to Secretary of Defense Wilson asking how a verbal secrecy label "can be applied to information which virtually any one in the world can obtain automatically by merely calling the Pentagon from the corner drugstore or from the Kremlin itself."

There was no immediate comment from the Pentagon.

Defiance Judge Dismisses Case

DEFIANCE (AP)—A juvenile court judge has dismissed charges of second degree murder and carrying concealed weapons against a 17-year-old Sherwood High School boy accused of stabbing another youth in a fight last Dec. 26.

Police said John William Downs stabbed Eugene L. Emerling, 16, of Defiance in the heart in a scrap over their mutual attentions to a 15-year-old Sherwood girl.

Judge Jay R. Pollock pointed out today that no witness testified seeing Downs actually strike a blow with the knife. Downs testified he carried the knife "as a bluff" after he heard Emerling was "out to get me."

Any stabbing, Downs contended, was accidental.

Mrs. Wilson said she was alone in the back room of the store when the pair entered. She came forward and the taller man asked her for cigarettes. When she found there was not enough in the cash register to change the $5 bill he offered in payment, he started for the back room to look for more.

He stopped her, she turned and saw that he had a gun. "I want what's in there," she quoted him. He pointed to the cash register, while the other man stood by the door.

"I just stood back and let him take it," she said. After the pair left, she said she went next door to the home of Richard Roush and called police.

Mrs. Wilson's grandson, Noah, 17, who helps her in the store, was away for the evening.

News in Brief

Hawaiian Red Unionists Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee reported today that Communist domination of a labor union in Hawaii poses a "serious threat" to the nation's internal security.

It said "present danger" exists in Communist leadership of the American Communications Assn., whose members man national and international wires carrying communications of the Defense and State Departments.

The annual report of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), recommended that Congress consider new laws to protect private and government communications from subversive activity and establish procedures to permit the membership of labor unions to get rid of Communist leadership.

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP) — Greek shipping magnat Stavros Niarchos confirmed today that he has bought the art collection of actor Edward G. Robinson. The collection has been valued at three million dollars and was sold to satisfy the terms of a divorce settlement.

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — U Nu, an advocate of neutralism in foreign affairs, will resume the premiership of Burma at 11:15 a.m. Friday. The day and hour were selected after many days of consultations between Nu and astrologers. Nu, 49, resigned as premier last June to reorganize his socialist party.

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Foreign Office sources said today Argentina will ask its neighbors to clamp down on followers of ex-dictator Juan Peron. This followed the government's announcement it had smashed a Peronista plot to invade Argentina simultaneously with an uprising.

The government said it had arrested 35 conspirators — former military men and civilians — over a 48-hour period.

NICOSIA (AP)—A British court today sentenced three defiant Greek Cypriots to death for possessing arms and ammunition. The judge said the death penalty was mandatory under emergency regulations in effect in Cyprus to combat the underground violence campaign to unite the island with Greece.

Library Opens New Station At Good Hope

GOOD HOPE — Residents of the Good Hope community again can relax with a good book without making a trip to Washington C. H. for it.

Twenty years ago the Public Library extended service to stations located in stores in Fayette County's outlying towns. Foster's Store at Good Hope was one of the first stations.

Last year the Foster Store moved to a new location, and it was found that there was no room for the bookshelves. So the station closed.

But there have been so many requests for a library service in the community that Mrs. Louise Braden offered space for the shelves in the Braden Lunch Room. And that is whre residents of Good Hope and the nearby community are borrowing books.

LENNBERG SAID about 100 persons hired by the company since the strike began July 15 will be retained.

Ohio Consolidated employes averaged $1.25 an hour under the old contract, with beginners getting 50 cents an hour and experienced employes up to $2.35.

An Ohio Consolidated spokesman said cost of the strike has not been computed. He said, however, that damage to cables and other equipment, mostly in the Portsmouth area, should amount to more than $500,000.

Eleven strikers, charged with violating a court injunction by interfering with company employes, will be sentenced Tuesday in Portsmouth. Another hearing in Portsmouth is concerned with contempt of court charges brought against 20 other strikers.

Montana Chief OKs Korea Bonus

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Gov. Hugo J. Aronson Wednesday signed a bonus bill providing up to $600 for veterans of the armed forces who served in the Korean War.

The bonus is $15 a month for overseas service and $10 a month for time on duty in the U. S.

An additional tax of one cent a pack on cigarettes will finance the payments. Montana still is collecting a two-cent cigarette tax to pay for the $22 million bonus awarded veterans of World War II.

U. S. Economy Said Bright

Congressional Panel Sees Boom Continuing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A joint Senate - House Economic Committee reported today the outlook for 1957 "is for further increases in employment, production and purchasing power, with no general easing of pressures toward further cost and price increases."

The 14 - member committee, headed by Rep. Patman (D-Tex), was not unanimous in its views. Five of its members filed supplemental or minority opinions.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) took major issue with the findings. He cited what he called "weak" points in the economy.

The committee noted that the economic outlook, while currently bright, "may change rapidly."

"Rising construction and interest costs, and declining liquidity," it said, "may prevent realization of present business plans for capital replacement and expansion" and "may have an adverse effect on state and local government expenditures for public works."

* * *

THE COMMITTEE said America today "is prosperous, with employment, production and purchasing power at record levels" and indications of "continuing growth of the economy in the year ahead."

But Douglas, a former economics professor, noted a number of spots he said were "weak."

"It should be noted," he said, "that in addition to the decline in the rate of growth of consumer credit, the stock market, the farm problem, declining productivity in 1956, and price inflation, that factory construction contract awards in the fourth quarter of 1956 were 30 per cent below the corresponding period in 1955; that there was sagging employment on a seasonally adjusted basis in industries producing consumer goods and housing materials; that the number of housing units constructed has sharply declined, and that other sectors were lagging."

Balky Nose Wheel Delays Landing

DETROIT (AP) — Twenty-six persons were trapped in the sky for six hours before one final effort locked a balky landing gear in place and allowed a Capital Airlines Constallation to glide in at duck for a safe lnding.

The four-engine plane's five-man crew used water, coffee and milk to build up hydraulic pressure to force the Constallation's nose wheel into place.

Capt. William Richie, 38, of Minneapolis, the plane's pilot, radioed for aid and a special Viscount carrying hydraulic engineers from Capital's Washington headquarters was rushed to within radio communication. The landing gear was repaired while engineers gave instructions to the crew.

Big 4 Arab States Pledge Neutrality in Cold War

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The four-power Arab summit conference has reaffirmed neutrality in the Cold War. It took no public stand on Communist penetration of the Middle East or the Eisenhower doctrine.

The conference issued a wind-up communique Wednesday night, signed by King Saud of Saudi Arabia, King Hussein of Jordan, President Shukri Kuwatly of Syria and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

The conference had special significance in the light of Saud's recent talks with President Eisenhower in Washington. The communique praised the King for explaining to American leaders the "Arab point of view regarding Middle East problems and other questions raised."

The four Arab leaders reaffirmed their "positive neutrality" in the Cold War. They said they were determined to shield Arab countries from its harmful effect.

* * *

THIS WAS an obvious slap at one important Arab state conspicuously absent, Iraq. While that country has declared repeatedly its solidarity with the others regarding Israel and Arab nationalism, it belongs to the Western-allied Baghdad Pact and says it has no intention of quitting it.

The four leaders said they would work for Israel's immediate and unconditional withdrawal from Gaza and Aqaba to the 1949 armistice lines. They said the Middle East is in jeopardy while Israel "persecutes and oppresses" the Arab population in Gaza.

The communique appeared to promise adamant opposition to U. S. promises to secure for Israel free access to the Gulf of Aqaba, the link between the Red Sea and the southern Israeli port of Elat.

After the communique was signed, King Saud received U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare for the second time in two days. There were newspaper reports that Soviet Ambassador E. D. Kisselev also was trying to see the King but had not gotten an appointment.

Jasper PTO Meeting In Charge of Men

Charles Hiser was "president for a night" in place of Mrs. Ralph Minton; Willard Dice handled the secretarial duties for Mrs. Dice, the regular secretary, and Charles Shaper served as treasurer in place of Mrs. Everett Taylor.

They even arranged a program of special interest to men—but the women said they enjoyed the colored movies of "Fishing in Ohio" shown by David Krupla, the county's game protector, just as much as the men.

The men also served the refreshments of doughnuts and coffee for the adults and pop for the young people. On the committee were Ray Pope, Donald Hodge and John Morgan. They were assisted by Hiser, Dice, Shaper, Maurice Kelley and Foster Kelley.

Five new directors are to be chosen at the meeting. Each board member and each agency representative has a vote as does any contributor to the Community Chest who may wish to attend.

Burglars Forget $150 In $4 Job at Sabina

The money had been taken from the safe, from a cash drawer and from an office drawer, the sheriff said, but a plastic bank envelope with the funds in it was lying on a counter when the robbery was discovered Wednesday morning.

The robbery was one of three in Sabina early Wednesday. An attempt at burglary was made in Clarksville the same night, and successful burglaries were completed the same night in Bainbridge and West Union.

* * *

"I DON'T KNOW, but I'll bet someone got the devil for leaving that money behind," Sheriff Foote said Wednesday. "It looks like each one of them thought the other one had it," he continued.

Robbers had entered the rear of the Exchange office building, stripped a large double door safe and taken money from the unlocked cash drawer and office drawer. Small tools were taken, and an ax, a chisel and a hatchet from the establishment were used on the safe. Total cash haul was only about $4.

About $100 was taken from the Farm Bureau in Sabina, while five rifles, two shotguns and a .22 pistol were taken from Dun's Refrigeration Sales and Service there.

Officials from the London Bureau of Criminal Identification said a crowbar found at the Farmers Exchange was the same kind as one taken in a robbery at Ashland recently.

Milk Price Strike Fading In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A producers' milk price boycott over a tristate area appears to be losing momentum as a result of state police and court action and a lack of backing by big dairy farmer groups.

Developments Wednesday put a damper on the four-day-old stoppage of milk supplies called by the Tristate Master Dairy Farmers Guild, an organization of about 3,500 producers. The guild seeks the cooperation of the 44,500 producers in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The federal milk marketing administrator said 5,600 producers are taking part and 58 out of 381 milk plants have been affected.

State police in the three states put a check on violence with emergency patrols protecting milk plants and their truckers.

In Albany, the Dairy Farmers of America, which claims a membership of more than 3,000 farmers in New York, New Hampshire and Vermont, voted to stay out of the milk stoppage.

There was no noticeable shortage of milk Wednesday in New York City, which normally uses about 10 million quarts of milk daily. Convoys of up to 40 trucks sped into the city under state police escort.

The current government-regulated minimum farm price for milk is about 9.8 cents a quart. The strikers contend it costs dairy men 12.2 cents a quart to produce the milk. They are demanding 12.4 cents a quart.

Reds Can Get U. S. Military Data on Phone

All he has to do is telephone the Defense Department and ask for extension 79355. Back comes a recording of the latest weather report from nearby Bolling Air Force Base, giving a 24-hour forecast and such details as ceiling, visibility, wind and temperature.

"This information," says a voice at the conclusion of the automatic, 55-second recording, "is for military use only and dissemination to the public is not authorized."

Chairman Moss (D-Calif) of the House Government Information subcommittee today made public a letter to Secretary of Defense Wilson asking how a verbal secrecy label "can be applied to information which virtually any one in the world can obtain automatically by merely calling the Pentagon from the corner drugstore or from the Kremlin itself."

There was no immediate comment from the Pentagon.

Defiance Judge Dismisses Case

DEFIANCE (AP)—A juvenile court judge has dismissed charges of second degree murder and carrying concealed weapons against a 17-year-old Sherwood High School boy accused of stabbing another youth in a fight last Dec. 26.

Police said John William Downs stabbed Eugene L. Emerling, 16, of Defiance in the heart in a scrap over their mutual attentions to a 15-year-old Sherwood girl.

Judge Jay R. Pollock pointed out today that no witness testified seeing Downs actually strike a blow with the knife. Downs testified he carried the knife "as a bluff" after he heard Emerling was "out to get me."

Any stabbing, Downs contended, was accidental.
